How to Use this Guide

You don't need to have played Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow to play and enjoy Pokémon Gold and Silver—but it does help! Pokémon Gold and Silver often refer to events from Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. And you can expect to meet many characters from Red, Blue, and Yellow and even visit locations where the original game took place.

Three years have elapsed since the original Pokémon games, and you can expect to see many advances in all things Pokémon. Gold and Silver offer new features, items, and technologies that were previously unavailable in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. The game is now played in real time: when it's night where you live, it's night in the game. Researchers in the field of Pokémon have also discovered fun new ways to catch and evolve Pokémon, and have even created new gizmos for you to use in your quest. The following two sections cover all this in detail. You'll find a complete list of all items and skills in the back of this guide.

Pokémon Gold and Silver takes place in a whole new region of the Pokémon continent. In Red, Blue, and Yellow you explored the Kanto region of the continent; Gold and Silver opens up the Johto region. Refer to "The Quick and Dirty Path" for a brief walkthrough of the game's events. The walkthrough section of the guide covers specifics on areas in both Johto and Kanto regions.

To better understand the layout of those sections, read on.

Icons

Icons at the top of every new map section will help you identify the types of events that take place in that area and which moves you'll need.

Days of the Week and Times of the Day

These icons indicate that an event in this area takes place on a specific day or during a specific time of the day. To witness this event or receive an Item, you must return to the area on that day or during that time.

Poké Ball Events

Poké Balls indicate important events in an area! Refer to the corresponding Poké Ball box beside the map for information about events that take place in that location.

Trainer Information

In map areas where there are Trainers to defeat, whether on the side of the road or in the gyms, a Trainer Information table provides information for each Trainer in the area, including their name, type, and Pokémon. An asterisk after the Trainer's name indicates that you can exchange phone numbers after you defeat him or her.

Wild Pokémon

Where you can capture Wild Pokémon, tables show which Pokémon appear in the Gold and Silver versions, and during which of the three time periods. Pokémon shaded green are those you can find on land, in grassy areas. Pokémon shaded blue are found in water. You can catch them by Surfing or Fishing.

Pokémon you can catch when Surfing are shown the same way as Pokémon you can catch on land, including the rarity and level of Pokémon you can catch at certain times.

If other Pokémon are present, a note to that effect appears beneath the table.

NOTE

Items in an area are shown on the map by numbered boxes. These correspond to numbered Items in the list alongside the map. In dungeons and other multistoried buildings, lettered boxes correspond to connections between stairs and teleporters.

How to Play Pokémon Gold and Silver

If you've played Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow, you already have a good idea how to play Gold and Silver. This section provides important details about the Gold and Silver versions. Read it through: you're sure to find this information useful in your quest to become the world's greatest Pokémon Trainer!

Getting Started

A young boy dreams of becoming a Pokémon Champion. His passport to the Elite Four is signed by Prof. Elm, a Pokémon researcher who specializes in Pokémon Evolution. When Prof. Elm's friend, Mr. Pokémon, finds a strange Pokémon Item at a nearby Day-Care, Elm calls on you to rush over and retrieve it. Accompanied by one of Elm's new, rare Pokémon, you begin the adventure of a lifetime.

New Bark Town is the closest thing to home base in the game. It's the landed portal to the old familiar Kanto area (in Japanese, the word kanto means "west"), and you'll want to return there from time to time to see whether Prof. Elm has new Items for you, to visit the "Bank of Mom," and to decorate your room with things from your mom's many shopping trips.

A significant difference between Pokémon Gold and Silver and earlier Pokémon games is that everything now happens in real time. The first step in starting a new game is to set the time of day (hour and minutes). Next, Prof. Oak appears and welcomes you to the world of Pokémon. Select your character's name from the list (or enter another of your choice). Then head downstairs, collect your PokéGear from mom, set the day of the week, and indicate whether or not Daylight Savings Time is in effect.

After you do this, the internal "clock" in your Pokémon Gold or Silver Game Pak will keep real-world time: if you start playing your game in the morning, and then shut it off, when you return in the evening it will be nighttime in the game, as well!

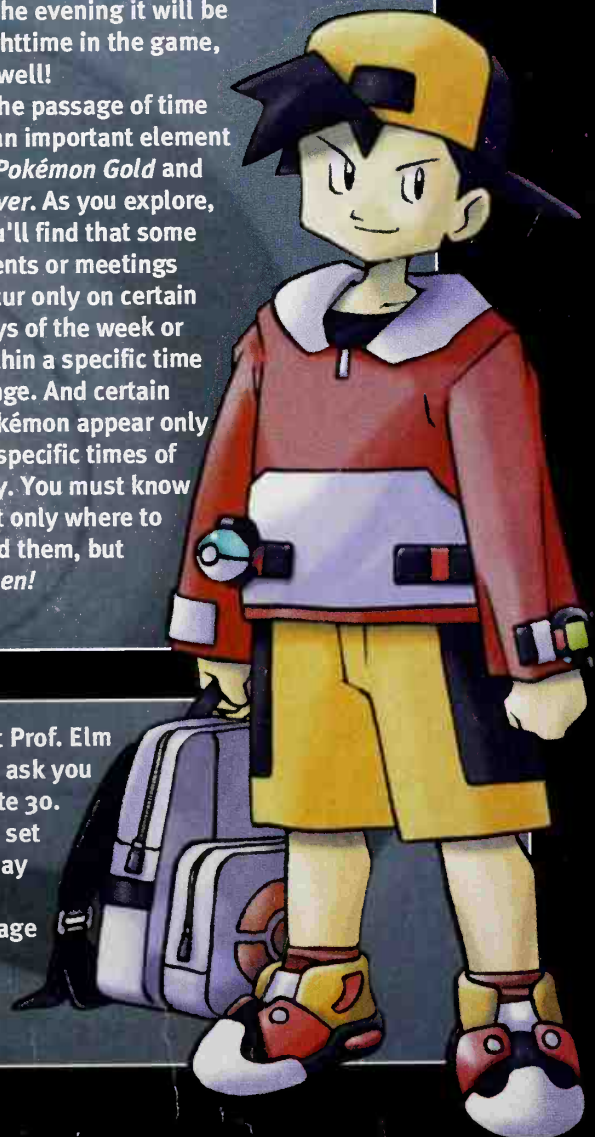

The passage of time is an important element of Pokémon Gold and Silver. As you explore, you'll find that some events or meetings occur only on certain days of the week or within a specific time range. And certain Pokémon appear only at specific times of day. You must know not only where to find them, but when!

After you get your PokéGear from your mom, visit Prof. Elm in his Lab. He and his assistant are busy, so they ask you to run an errand to Mr. Pokémon's House on Route 30. Choose one from among three new Pokémon and set out. As in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow, you may not purchase or use Poké Balls until after you complete the errand. Because you're sure to engage in random battles with Wild Pokémon, Elm's assistant gives you a Potion to heal your Pokémon's wounds.

NOTE

In winter, residents of most U.S. States change the time on their clocks to "Daylight Savings Time" to help them adjust to the sun's lower position during that season and give them more time to work and play in daylight during the shorter days. Daylight Savings Time begins the last Sunday in October and ends the first Sunday in April. When Daylight Savings Time begins or ends, you can change the game clock by returning to New Bark Town and talking with your mom.

Which Pokémon Should You Choose..?

Chikorita

A Grass-type Pokémon with girlish looks, Chikorita is the most challenging of the three starting Pokémon. It's not particularly strong against any of the Pokémon you'll encounter in the first part of the game (in fact, it's extremely weak against most of the Gym Pokémon!), so you must spend a lot of time leveling it up and building a team of support Pokémon. Chikorita is recommended for experienced Pokémon Trainers or players who want an extra challenge.

TIP

We learned that the testers at Nintendo of America use teams of Typhlosion (third form of Cyndaquil), Lugia, Ampharos (third form of Mareep), and Graveler/Golem (second and third forms of Geodude) to get through the game quickly. Consider using this sort of team if you're looking to do the same. Remember, you must be playing the Silver version to get Lugia in time for the challenge at Indigo Plateau!

Totodile

This Water-type Pokémon is a good, all-around choice for a starting Pokémon. Its greatest strength lies in its flexibility. Of the three starting Pokémon, it can use the most HMs and has no weaknesses against the Pokémon you encounter in the beginning of the game. This is a great Starting Pokémon for any player.

Cyndaquil

Known for its fiery quills, this Fire-type is the strongest of the three starting Pokémon. In fact, you can make it through most of the game on the strength of this Pokémon alone. (Its final form, Typhlosion, is extremely powerful!) Choose Cyndaquil if you're playing the Silver version and your Typhlosion and Lugia will take out the Elite Four easily! Cyndaquil is the best choice for new players and those who want to speed through the game.

Using your new PokéGear

All would-be Pokémon Trainers now carry a new technology called PokéGear. Use this revolutionary device to check the day and time and to communicate with Prof. Elm, your mom, and up to 10 other Trainers you can exchange phone numbers with. The PokéGear's additional expansion slots accommodate add-ons such as a Town Map and a Radio, once you receive the proper expansion cards.

NOTE

The memory in your PokéGear will only allow you to store 10 different Trainer's phone numbers. Once you reach this limit, you must delete an existing Trainer's phone number prior to storing another number.

NOTE

After you complete the quest in Johto, Kanto becomes available for you to explore. The Town Map feature of your PokéGear displays which region you currently reside in.

Item Storage

A cool feature of your new Backpack is its ability to store items in separate pockets. Each of its four pockets allows you to store different objects.

The left pocket is for items such as Potions, Antidotes, and Berries that you find along your journey, purchase in Poké Marts, or receive from Trainers or townspeople. You may store up to 18 different items in this pocket.

Deposit the TMs and HMs you collect in the Backpack's right-hand pocket. Remember, you may use HMs over and over, but TMs disappear once you assign them to a Pokémon. You may purchase some TMs in Poké Marts, but most you'll find as you explore.

Key Items such as the Bicycle, Fishing Rods, and other things too large for the smaller pockets go into the main pocket. The last pocket is for storing Poké Balls, including the special ones Kurt in Azalea Town makes for you.

On the Field

Once you've chosen your starting Pokémon, it's time to begin your quest. As in the previous games, Gold and Silver is a game of capturing, collecting, and trading Pokémon. But until you get your hands on some Poké Balls, you can't capture any Wild Pokémon you find.

Battling

Wild Pokémon lurk in many places, including areas of tall grass on and around many routes, in deep, dark caves, and even in ponds and lakes.

As you travel over various types of terrain, you'll encounter a number of Wild Pokémon. When you do, a battle will commence. After you send out your lead Pokémon, the Pokémon you're battling against will exchange attacks as you issue commands to your lead Pokémon. During each round you may choose from options that range from attacking to using an Item from your Backpack to fleeing altogether. The following sections provide details on each choice.

Fight

The Fight option allows you to issue a command from among the moves your Pokémon has learned. You may use each move only a certain number of times (as noted by its PP level) between visits to the Pokémon Centers, where you can heal your Pokémon fully.

Pkmn

You may call back your battling Pokémon and send out another from among the Pokémon you carry. Remember, you may carry up to six Pokémon at once.

Pack

Use this option to choose items from your Backpack. Berries, Antidotes, Potions and the like will allow you to heal your Pokémon so they can continue fighting.

Run

As long as you're not fighting another Trainer or Gym Leader, you may use this option to attempt to retreat from battle. Success depends on the level and condition of your battling Pokémon compared to the level of the Pokémon it's fighting.

Status Anomalies

Opponents' Special Attacks during battle can render your Pokémon unable to fight, or at least impair its fighting ability. Although your Pokémon will recover automatically after the battle ends, some status changes, such as Sleep and Paralyze, can last long afterward. Poison will even continue draining your Pokémon's HP with each step you take!

When this occurs, take care of the problem immediately using an Item to help the Pokémon recover. If you don't possess the proper Item, make your way to a Pokémon Center right away! Many Berries will cure one type of Status Anomaly, but the Miracle Berry (obtained through the Mystery Gift feature) will heal a Pokémon of all its illnesses in a single turn.

Playing Strengths Against Weaknesses

In Pokémon Gold and Silver, you can increase the damage you inflict on opposing Pokémon simply by playing strengths against weaknesses.

It's been said again and again that a well-balanced party is the key to success in Pokémon. Usually this means including Pokémon of many types. For example, a well-balanced party might include Fire, Water, Grass, Electric, Psychic, and Rock families. Such variety virtually guarantees a Trainer Pokémon that is strong against opposing Pokémon of any type.

But having a well-balanced team goes beyond just type. It's equally important to consider your Pokémon's moves. After all, an Electric Pokémon with only Lightning-type skills will be strong against only Pokémon much weaker in levels, or who are Water- or Flying-types. Pit that Pokémon against hybrids such as Gligar (Flying/Earth) or Quagsire (Water/Earth), or against any Earth, Electric, Grass, or Dragon Pokémon, and you'll likely find yourself in a losing battle.

Teaching your Pokémon a variety of moves is important when building your team. Often you can teach your Pokémon moves it would be weak against normally. This is especially true in the case of Pokémon who change type when they evolve. For example, if your Eevee evolves into an Espeon after L30, there's a good chance it will know the Dark move, Bite.

Refer to the Compatibility chart when you choose your Pokémon's moves. You want to teach not only strong moves, but also a variety of types of moves. For example, when training a Psychic Pokémon such as Espeon, teaching it move types other than just Psychic-type attacks will increase its versatility in battle.

TIP

A Pokémon holding a Berry will use it automatically when the need presents itself. You needn't sacrifice a turn.

Messages and Their Meanings

As your Pokémon fight, messages such as "It's super effective!" may appear onscreen. These messages indicate whether the attacks you're using are effective against the opposing Pokémon. The following chart explains how this damage multiplier works.

For instance, if you're attacking with a Water Pokémon using a Water-based attack, the attack will inflict 1.5 times the damage it normally would if you used it with another Pokémon type (such as a Grass Pokémon).

ATTACK STRENGTHS

MESSAGE	DAMAGE MULTIPLIER
"It's super-effective!"	x2
No Message	x1
"It's not very effective."	x .5
"It has no effect."	x0
"A Critical Hit!"	x2
Pokémon is same type as move used.	x1.5

CAUTION

Some moves, such as Thrash, can Confuse your Pokémon after use. Plan ahead in case you must face multiple enemies during the course of a single battle!

The Art of Compatibility

Each Pokémon has its own strengths and weaknesses. The following chart will help you determine which Pokémon type you should use when fighting another.

Physical Attacks vs. Special Attacks

Earlier versions of Pokémon featured Attack, Defense, and Special statistics. In Gold and Silver, the Special category was split down into its own Attack and Defense stats. Attack and Defense stats deal specifically with Physical attacks (listed in the following Physical Attack Type list). Special Attack and Defense stats now deal specifically with Special Attacks (listed in the following Special Attack Type list).

Obtaining a Pokémon's stats in these areas determines how effective certain attacks will be and how well the Pokémon will resist other attacks. Keep this in mind when putting your Pokémon into battle situations where you know what types of attacks the opponent Pokémon are likely to use.

NOTE

Weakening the Pokémon you're trying to capture won't guarantee you'll catch it. In fact, a Poké Ball may rock up to three times and a Pokémon can still break free. You may be disappointed when this happens, but remember—it's all part of the game, and true Pokémon Trainers don't give up easily!

Capturing Pokémon

To become the world's greatest Pokémon Trainer, you must enlist the services of Pokémon other than the one you start with, and you must capture these using Poké Balls. Because most Pokémon are pretty energetic, they'll easily break free from any Poké Ball you throw at them unless you weaken them first. Until your Pokémon learn moves to put a Wild Pokémon to Sleep or otherwise subdue it, the most effective way to capture one is to fight and wear it down.

Don't overdo it, though, or you may accidentally defeat the Pokémon you're trying to capture when it Faints, ending the battle. Once you've reduced the target Pokémon's health points to the point where its health bar turns red, you'll need to switch tactics and to start tossing Poké Balls.

When you start out, standard Poké Balls work just fine. As you progress through the game, however, you'll find that different types have different success rates. And, depending on the abilities and level of the Pokémon you want to capture, you must use the appropriate Poké Ball to improve your chances.

Other Ways to Capture Pokémon

In addition to random encounters as you explore tall grass, dark caves, and bodies of water, you'll find other ways to collect Pokémon. They include:

- Once you get a fishing pole, simply cast your line to any body of water and fish 'til the cows come home!
- Participate in events such as the Bug-Catching Contest in National Park.
- Use moves such as Rock Smash and Headbutt to flush out hidden Pokémon.

Using the Hidden and Technical Machines

With each Gym Leader you defeat, you gain the ability to use one of seven Hidden Machines ("HMs"). These special machines allow your Pokémon to learn moves they can use both in battle and to help negotiate various types of terrain during your trek.

HM FIELD ABILITIES

MOVE	ABILITY
CUT (HM1)	Slice through shrubbery to create a path.
FLY (HM2)	Take to the skies and instantly travel to any city you've visited.
SURF (HM3)	Travel across water.
STRENGTH (HM4)	Move even the largest boulder.
FLASH (HM5)	Light up even the darkest cave.
WHIRLPOOL (HM6)	Calm swirling waters so you can pass over them.
WATERFALL (HM7)	Travel past even the tallest waterfall.

How To Play

OTHER ABILITIES

Your Pokémon may use the following moves outside of battle.

MOVE	ABILITY
ROCK SMASH	Reduce large, cracked boulders to rubble (and find something underneath!).
HEADBUTT	Shake any tree you face (and "loosen up" something above!).
DIG	Tunnel out of any cave.
SWEET SCENT	Attracts Wild Pokémon, increasing the frequency of random battles.
SOFTBOILED	Distributes 1/5 HP of Pokémon using the move among the party's other Pokémon.
MILK DRINK	Distributes 1/5 HP of Pokémon using the move among the party's other Pokémon.

Trading Pokémon

Using the Game Link® (sold separately), you can trade your captured Pokémon with your friends. After a certain point in the game, you can even trade with friends who have Red, Blue, or Yellow versions.

Although the Pokémon you can trade from Gold and Silver to Red, Blue, and Yellow are limited, they come with bonuses—Items attached from the earlier versions of the game.

Attaching Objects

In Pokémon Gold and Silver, Pokémon can hold objects! This enables you to do wonderful things, such as trade your Pokémon with a personalized letter attached. And when you attach a Berry to a Pokémon, the Pokémon can use it automatically during a battle to restore lost hit points, or to cure a status anomaly, such as Poison or Confusion.

Apricorns—Kurt's Gift to the Pokémon Trainer

When you reach Azalea Town, you'll encounter Kurt, who can make extra-special Poké Balls from hollowed-out Apricorns in only 24 hours. However, he can work on only one at a time.

Pokéguides

In the three years since Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow's appearance, Pokémon research has really taken off, and many new things have been discovered about the care and capture of Pokémon.

Capturing Pokémon

Successful Pokémon Trainers know all the tricks of the trade when it comes to capturing Pokémon. They know where to go and which tools to use. The basics haven't changed much since the days of Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow, and if you were good at capturing Pokémon then, you'll have no problem now. But because some new ways of finding Pokémon were discovered recently, it's a good idea to go over the process again.

Exploring the Tall Grass

The most common method of catching Pokémon is simply to walk through areas where the grass is long and shaggy. Wild Pokémon love to hide where they can't be easily seen, and long grass fits the bill. However, you have no control over when you'll encounter a Wild Pokémon in the long grass, so be cautious: if your Pokémon is too weak and injured for battle, keep off the grass!

Surfing

If you can catch land- and air-dwelling Pokémon while walking in the grass, you should be able to catch certain shallow-swimming Pokémon when you surf. The number of Pokémon you encounter this way is limited (20 Pokémon in all), but they do make travel over water more interesting. You'll need HM03 (Surf), the Fog Badge (from the Ecruteak City Gym), and a Pokémon capable of learning Surf.

Pokémon You Can Catch While Surfing

Dratini	Mantine (Gold only)	Seaking
Goldeen	Muk	Slowbro
Golduck	Poliwhg	Slowpoke
Grimer	Poliwhirl	Tentacool
Gyarados	Psyduck	Tentacruel
Horsea	Quagsire	Wooper
Magikarp	Seadra

Fishing

To fish for Pokémon, you need only a fishing rod. Three rod types are available; each allows you to catch different Pokémon types at different levels. The Old Rod, found at the Pokémon Center on Route 32, is the weakest fishing rod. It allows you to capture Poliwhg, Tentacool, Krabby, Goldeen, and Magikarp at L10. You receive the Good Rod in Olivine City. It more than doubles the number of Pokémon you can catch—Poliwhg, Tentacool, Krabby, Horsea, Goldeen, Magikarp, Gyarados, Dratini, Shellder, Staryu, and two others, at L20.

The Super Rod you find on Route 12 in the Kanto region, allows you to catch all the fish in the waters, usually at L40. In addition to the foregoing Pokémon, you can catch Tentacruel, Seadra, Seaking, Dragonair, Kingler, Qwilfish, Remoraid, and another special Pokémon.

Headbutting

Headbutting is a new way to capture Pokémon. It allows you to use TM02 (Headbutt), found in the Ilex Forest, outside battle to shake Pokémon loose from a certain type of tree that appears only in the Johto region. It comes in two varieties—Forest Trees and Mountain Trees. Tree type dictates which Pokémon appear.

The Pokémon marked with asterisks in the following table don't appear everywhere you'll find Forest or Mountain Trees. Search around (or read Chapter 5 closely) to find those rare Pokémon.

Route 37	Route 33
Route 38	Route 42
Route 39	Route 43
Azalea Town	Route 44
Ilex Forest	—

Rock Smash

Rock Smash (TM08) combines the obstacle-removing power of HM04 (Strength) with the Pokémon-disturbing effect of TM02 (Headbutt). In effect, it allows you to crush certain types of boulders to find Pokémon.

Unfortunately, there are only two Pokémon types you can find by Rock Smashing boulders—Shuckle and Krabby. Of the two, Krabby is the easiest to find. Shuckle appear only under rocks on Routes 40 and 41 and on the outskirts of Cianwood City.

The Day and Nite Factor

Certain Pokémon appear in the wild only at certain times of day. To catch the owl-like Hoothoot, you must seek it in the dark of nite. To capture the plant-like Hoppip, which requires the light of day to grow, look during the morning or afternoon. Usually, you can catch Pokémon who live in caves or other dark places at any time of the day.

Day-nite restrictions apply only to capturing Pokémon and don't dictate when you can use a Pokémon after you catch it. They don't even affect a Pokémon's effectiveness. A Hoothoot is no more powerful at night than during the day, for example.

In-Season Pokémon

Some rare Pokémon appear more often when they're "In-Season." Moreover, you'll find Trainers in Johto who know exactly when a Pokémon is In-Season and when it isn't. If you battle one of those Trainers and win, you can exchange phone numbers, and then at some later time you'll get "the call."

The most familiar seasonal Pokémon is, of course, that blue mouse, Marill. Marill live in Mt. Mortar and when they're not In-Season, they appear very infrequently (less than a 10% chance of appearing). But after you get that all-important phone call from a certain Trainer at the top of Route 45, you can find them easily.

It works this way: once you've exchanged phone numbers with another Trainer, you can expect a call every hour or two. The game randomly determines which Trainer makes the call (if you have more than one number saved in your PokéGear) and which call type you'll get—either "My Pokémon are looking awesome" or "Let's battle again!" After you exchange phone numbers with a Trainer who can tell you about In-Season Pokémon, that call is added to the list of random choices. The quickest way to get an In-Season call, then, is to make that Trainer's phone number the only one listed in your PokéGear.

You have roughly 30 minutes from the time you get an In-Season call to get to the right location and catch that Pokémon. Because the clock in Pokémon Gold and Silver runs in real time, you can't just save the game after you get a call and expect the timer to keep counting when you return.

In-Season Pokémon

The following Pokémon appear seasonally

	POKÉMON NAME	LOCATION	TRAINER LOCATION
	Qwilfish	Route 32 (Fish)	Ralph, Route 32
	Dunsparce	Dark Cave (Violet City Side)	Anthony, Route 33
	Yanma	Route 35	Arnie, Route 35
	Snubbull	Route 38	Chad, Route 38
	Marill	Mt. Mortar 1F-2F	Parry, Route 45
	Remoraid	Route 44 (Fish)	Wilton, Route 44

Baby Pokémon

Baby Pokémon have also been discovered in Pokémon Gold and Silver. These represent the unevolved, earliest stage of some of your favorite Pokémon from Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. Except for Tyrogue and Togepi, you can't win Baby Pokémon in an event or capture them in the wild. Instead, you must breed two Pokémon at Day-Care and then hatch them from a Pokémon Egg. (Refer to the following section for more information on breeding Pokémon).

The following Baby Pokémon have been discovered!

Pichu is the pre-evolutionary form of...  ...Pikachu.

Cleflea is the pre-evolutionary form of...  ...Clefairy.

Igglybuff is the pre-evolutionary form of...  ...Jigglypuff.

Tyrogue is the pre-evolutionary form of...  ...Hitmonlee, Hitmonchan, and Hitmontop.

Smoochum is the pre-evolutionary form of...  ...Jynx.

Elekid is the pre-evolutionary form of...  ...Electabuzz.

Magby is the pre-evolutionary form of...  ...Magmar.

The Poké Ball Round-up

A whole new group of handmade Poké Balls have been added to the Pokémon Trainer's arsenal. This vast number of new Poké Ball types makes it easy to get confused about which Poké Ball you should use in which situation. Here's some help in sorting it all out.

Purchased Poké Balls

In the shops located in Johto and Kanto, you can purchase three kinds of Poké Balls—Poké Balls, Great Balls, and Ultra Balls. They differ only by price and efficiency. But although an Ultra Ball will usually capture more Pokémon more efficiently than a Poké Ball, that's not always the case. For example, it's entirely possible to catch a L70 Lugia with a Great Ball while being unable to capture a L5 Unown with an Ultra Ball.

You must decide for yourself which Poké Balls to buy. If you always have good luck with Ultra Balls and you have the money to spend, go for it. But if you have an equal amount of luck with Great Balls, you can save a lot of money by buying them instead, or purchasing a combination.

Specialty Poké Balls

The number of specialty Poké Balls has increased from one (the very rare Master Ball) to eight. When you get to Azalea Town, you'll meet a man named Kurt who can transform the colored Apricorns into awesome Poké Balls.

First collect Apricorns of various colors from their respective trees in the Johto region. Then pay Kurt a visit. He can create a single Poké Ball every 24 hours, so, if you plan to lay in a supply of a certain type, you'll need to plan far in advance.

The Apricorn you give Kurt determines the type of Poké Ball he makes. Refer to the following table to learn which Apricorn makes which Poké Ball type.

Apricorn Conversions

APRICORN	LOCATION	SPECIAL POKÉ BALL
BLK Apricorn	Route 37	Heavy Ball
BLU Apricorn	Route 37	Lure Ball
GRN Apricorn	Route 42	Friend Ball
PNK Apricorn	Route 42	Love Ball
RED Apricorn	Route 37	Level Ball
WHT Apricorn	Azalea Town	Fast Ball
YLW Apricorn	Route 42	Moon Ball

How to Use the Specialty Poké Balls

You can greatly improve your chances of catching a certain Pokémon if you use the correct Poké Ball in the right situation. The following table explains when to use each of Kurt's Poké Balls.

BALL NAME	USE	POKÉMON EXAMPLE
FAST BALL	Capture Pokémon with high Speed ratings.	Entei, Raikou, and Suicune
FRIEND BALL	The Pokémon you capture with this starts out liking and trusting you. This ball is great for capturing Pokémon who evolve further after their Happiness rating reaches a certain point.	Chansey, Golbat
HEAVY BALL	Capture larger-than-average Pokémon.	Snorlax, Onix, and Chansey
LEVEL BALL	Capture Pokémon of significantly lower levels than your lead Pokémon. It's fun to use this Poké Ball on Pokémon such as the Legendary Pokémon, and even Ho-oh or Lugia, if your lead Pokémon's level is at least double theirs.	—
LOVE BALL	Capture a Pokémon whose gender is opposite your lead Pokémon's.	—
MOON BALL	Improve your chances of catching Moon Stone-evolved Pokémon.	Clefairy, Jigglypuff, Nidorina, Nidorino

The Master Ball is the ultimate Poké Ball, and the rarest. You get a single ball as a reward for completing the Johto Pokémon Gym Challenge and you have the opportunity to win one every week through the Lucky Number Contest. Master Balls allow you to capture any Pokémon in the game with 100 percent success.

NOTE

If you've played Pokémon before, you already know that some Pokémon evolve and some don't. This section deals with the Pokémon that do evolve into different forms.

Evolving Pokémon

Once you've caught a Pokémon, you'll probably want to evolve it into a stronger form (if possible). Again, you should consider some new discoveries in this area of Pokémon Research.

Evolving the Hard Way

The usual way to evolve Pokémon is by leveling up. Pokémon rise in levels as they accumulate experience points in battle. Obviously, the more a Pokémon battles, the more experience points it gains and the more rapidly its level increases.

To level up a Pokémon that's weaker than the other Pokémon around (either in the wild or belonging to other Trainers), you can use the standard bait-and-switch training method: Because experience points from battle are divided equally among the participants, you should put your weak Pokémon-in-training at the top of your Active Pokémon list (making it your lead Pokémon), and then exchange it for another, stronger Pokémon during the battle's first round. This way, it earns a share of the experience without getting harmed.

Now you can equip your experience-starved Pokémon with the Exp. Share item, as well. This guarantees the wearer one-half the experience earned in any and all battles, without setting one little foot in the battle arena. Thus, you needn't sacrifice the first turn of battle to the exchange of Pokémon.

Or find a Wild Chansey and steal its Lucky Egg. Attach it to your Pokémon to double the experience points it receives in battle! Now if only you could attach two items at once!

A Special Evolution

So you got the Tyrogue from King Karate in Mt. Mortar—or you bred one using a Hitmonchan or Hitmonlee from Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow—and you aren't sure what happens next. Tyrogue evolves at L20 into either Hitmonchan, Hitmonlee, or Hitmontop, depending on its Attack and Defense stats. The formula works like this:

+L20 & Attack > Defense =

+L20 & Defense > Attack =

+L20 & Defense = Attack =

("Defense = Attack" means the Defense stat is equal to the Attack stat.)

Preventing Evolution

When a Pokémon reaches the level at which it naturally evolves, you must decide quickly whether you really want it to. Although evolved Pokémon are stronger, they learn moves more slowly than their early forms. If this makes a difference to you (and in some cases it should), press Ⓢ during its metamorphosis to stop it from evolving.

You also can equip a Pokémon with an Everstone to prevent it accidentally evolving. You'll receive Everstones from Prof. Elm (when you show him Togepi), Bill's Grandpa (when you show him Lickitung), and as second prize at the Bug-Catching Contest.

Evolution Stones

Some Pokémon evolve only when you feed them a specific Evolution Stone. Six kinds of Evolution Stones are available. Fire, Water, Leaf, and Thunder Stones appear only once; Sun and Moon Stones appear at the ends of specific events.

	+	Game Link Trade	=
	+	Game Link Trade	=

But that's not all! In Pokémon Gold and Silver, researchers have discovered that certain other Pokémon will evolve over the Game Link once you attach a specific item to them. Here are the combinations:

	+	Trade w/King's Rock	=

The Happiness Factor

Some Pokémon will evolve only when they love and trust their Trainer enough. It's difficult to judge your Pokémon's Happiness rating because it's a hidden figure. Instead, you must visit the Happiness Rater in Goldenrod City.

If you want the Happiness Rater to judge a specific Pokémon's mood, first move that Pokémon to the top of your list of Active Pokémon. Then talk to the Happiness Rater. She counts six levels—from absolute hatred to supreme happiness, shown in order from best to worst in the following list:

Level 1: "It looks really happy! It must love you a lot."

Level 2: "I get the feeling that it really trusts you."

Level 3: "It's friendly toward you. It looks sort of happy."

Level 4: "It's quite cute."

Level 5: "You should treat it better. It's not used to you."

Level 6: "It doesn't seem to like you at all. It looks mean."

When you capture a Pokémon or receive one in an event, its Happiness rating is at Level 5 ("You should treat it better. It's not used to you") It will drop to Level 6 if you abuse it by feeding it bitter potions, eliminate it again and again in battle, neglect to heal its Status Anomalies, and so on. Although leaving a Pokémon in Bill's PC or at the Day-Care won't make it hate you, it will make it forget what a loving owner you were before you stored it there. (That is, a Pokémon left behind will drop only as low as Happiness Level 5).

If you want one of the following Pokémon to evolve to its next form, you must raise its Happiness rating to Level 1 "It looks really happy! It must love you a lot." A happy Pokémon, in general, is one that spends time near its Trainer in the Active party. If you want a Pokémon to like you, use it in a lot of battles, or just keep it in your Active party.

You can do a lot of little things to make your Pokémon like you faster:

- Feeding it lots of Pokémon Power-ups such as Protein, Carbos, and the like is the quickest (and most expensive) way to make your Pokémon love you!
- Take your Pokémon to visit Daisy in Pallet Town. Every day between 3 and 4 in the afternoon, Daisy gives your Pokémon free haircuts.
- Take it to the Haircut Brothers in the Underground Passage in Goldenrod City. For P300/P500 a day they'll groom and pamper your favorite Pokémon.
- Heal your Pokémon quickly whenever it gets hurt, Poisoned, Burned, and so on. Pokémon don't like being hurt. Above all, don't let them Faint in battle!

Remember how to find the Happiness Rater's home in Goldenrod City!

Breeding Pokémon

Of course, the biggest news is the fact that you can breed your own Pokémon. The couple who runs the Day-Care on Route 34, in the Johto region, has discovered that when male and female Pokémon are left there together, a Pokémon Egg may result!

Breeding Pokémon is simple if you follow these rules:

Rule 1: You must leave a male Pokémon and a female Pokémon together at the Day-Care at the same time (with exceptions, see the following).

Rule 2: The two Pokémon must show interest in each other.

Exceptions to the male/female rule involve the genderless Pokémon, Ditto. You can breed a Ditto with almost any Pokémon of either gender and end up with an Egg. You can't, however, leave two male or two female Pokémon at the Day-Care and expect to end up with an Egg.

A baby inherits its type and its positive stats from its mother. That is, if the female Pokémon is a Chikorita, the baby Pokémon will be a Chikorita, too; if the mother has a high Speed stat, the child will be fast, too.

From the father Pokémon, the baby may learn any moves it wouldn't learn normally. Thus, you can breed customized Pokémon based on the mother's stats and the father's moves. However, the inheritance of moves occurs very rarely, so don't count on it!

Rule 2 is very important: would-be Pokémon parents must be interested in each other before they can produce an Egg. When you leave two Pokémon behind at the Day-

Care, be sure to talk to them first in the pen outside to learn what they think of one another.

If one Pokémon shows any sign of liking the other, the two will create an Egg. If they show no interest in one another, they'll never create one. (Makes sense, right?) And the more two Pokémon like each other, the more compatible they are, the quicker they'll make an Egg, and the more quickly that Egg will hatch.

Once you've chosen two compatible Pokémon, you must leave them alone for a while. Keep checking back; if you see the Day Care Man waiting outside in the pen, you know you have an Egg waiting. The Day Care Man won't give you an Egg, though, unless you have an empty slot in your belt, so check before you talk with him. There is a PC in the Day-Care just for that purpose.

To hatch an Egg, carry it around with you in your Active party until it starts to crack.

Yes, it's the Day-Care on Route 34.

He likes her!

They sort of like each other.

No interest, no Eggs!

Breeding Examples

What follows are a few sample Pokémon combinations, starting with male-female breeding.

Ditto offers a way around some of the problems with male-female breeding. You can mate any Pokémon that can breed (and many can't) with a Ditto. Such mating is like cloning or copying. To breed some Chikorita, for example, starting with a male, mate it with a Ditto to get a Chikorita-containing Egg. This also works if the Pokémon you want to breed has a set gender (such as a Nidoran ♂) or no gender (such as a Magnemite).

The Quick and Dirty Path

The world of Pokémon Gold and Silver comprises both the new Johto Region and the old familiar Kanto Region. To complete the game, you must explore both areas and collect the Gym Badges. As you complete the Pokémon Gym Challenge, you'll encounter new foes, old adversaries, and lots of tricky obstacles. The following flowchart, together with the chapter maps, will help you find your way.

NOTE

Although the route that follows is the quickest way through the game, it's not the only route. If you experiment, you'll find you can complete some events in a different order.

The Johto Region

In Japanese, johto means "west," and this area does indeed lie on the western side of the new Pokémon map. New Bark Town, the game's starting place, lies next to a new path in the game's Kanto Region. Kanto (which means "east") is the new name for the land featured in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. Because you can't Surf yet, you must explore the entire Johto Region before you head back to familiar surroundings!

Maps of the Johto Region

The maps for the Johto region are arranged in the order you encounter them as you make your way through the game—not in the order in which you are called upon to visit them in the game's story. For example, you'll find maps and information about the Goldenrod City Radio Tower next to the section on Goldenrod City and the Underground Passage, because this is when you first visit this area. When you're asked to return to the Radio Tower later in the game (once you've won the 7th badge), refer back to those pages for hints and tips on solving the new challenge. Use these maps along with the walkthrough flowcharts in Chapter 4, to get the level of help you need.

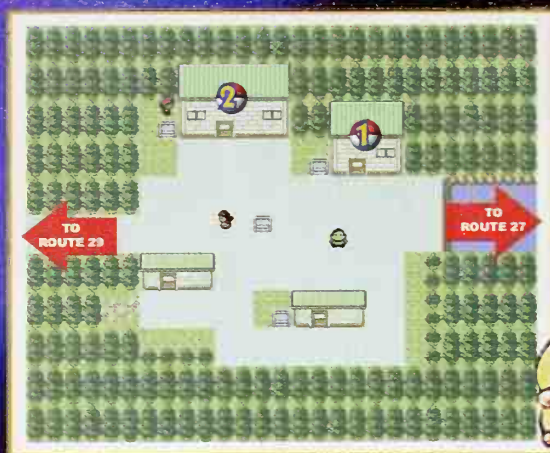

Johto Region

New Bark Town

Home sweet home! New Bark Town is the type of place you'll want to visit again and again. Be sure to visit your mom and Professor Elm whenever you're nearby. New Bark Town also serves as the portal to the Kanto region—at least until you find other means of transportation.

There's nothing like a visit home to take care of the traveling blues. Not only will your mom welcome you home and praise your progress, she'll also surprise you with helpful items (found in your PC) and cool Pokémon items to dress up your room. If you've opted to have your mom save part of your winnings, just talk to her to make a deposit or withdrawal. Your mom will also change your clock's time in and out of DST (Daylight Savings Time), should you choose not to discuss money.

Professor Elm's Pokémon Research Lab is where the game really starts. Be sure to make Professor Elm the first person you talk to when you leave home. He has an errand he wants you to carry out. In return he'll give you one of his new, rare Pokémon.

Professor Elm's Pokémon Research Lab is a treasure trove of valuable items, but you must fulfill certain requirements to get them. The following list includes them all.

Items

These items are found in Professor Elm's Lab.

Route 29

The route between New Bark Town and Cherrygrove City is pretty tame by Pokémon standards. The Trainers here are more interested in giving advice than in challenging you to a Pokémon Battle. Route 29 is home to two new breeds of Pokémon, so take advantage of the random battles the Wild Pokémon here offer. The squirrel-like Sentret appears in the Morning and Day, while the wise Hoothoot comes out only at Nite.

Items

1. Berry
2. Potion
3. Pink Bow
(only on Tuesdays)

There are no Trainers on this Route—just helpful bystanders! For example, this dude offers to teach you how to capture Pokémon once you get the Poké Balls from Professor Elm's assistant. Of course, you won't get those Poké Balls until you find the Mystery Egg and thus complete Professor Elm's errand, so you'd better get going!

TIP

Your first trip through Route 29 can be a harrowing experience if you're not careful. Although the Wild Pokémon on Route 29 offer the perfect opportunity to raise your Pokémon a few levels, you'll need to keep a close eye on your new Pokémon's health. On the positive side, your Starting Pokémon comes with a Berry attached that it will use to heal itself when its HP Gauge falls into the yellow zone. However, once it is gone you will need to use a Potion to heal its wounds or run to the Pokémon Center in Cherrygrove City.

If you are interested in doing a bit of exploring, you should take this gatehouse to the end of Route 46. In the grassy plots at the base of the mountain, you'll find tons of Geodude, Spearow, and Rattata. If you are looking for Pokémon to complement your Starting Pokémon, this is the place.

On Tuesdays, be sure to look out for Tuscany of Tuesday. She's one of seven brothers and sisters who hand out free gifts to new Trainers. If you are walking through Route 29 on a Tuesday, talk to her and she'll give you a Pink Bow. This is an item which, when attached to a Pokémon, strengthens its Normal-type moves.

Cherrygrove City

This lakeside city is the one of the game's few towns without a Gym. However, it's the first place where you can visit a Pokémon Center and shop at a Pokémon Mart. Keep in mind that you can't buy Poké Balls until you get a Pokédex and clearance from Professor Elm!

First things first! Take the tour the gentleman at the city's eastern entrance offers you. At the end he gives you the Map Card add-on for your PokéGear. This handy tool allows you to view your current location as you travel across the Johto map.

The Pokémon Center has changed a bit from your last visit. Desks for trading and battling Pokémon over a Game Link are housed on the second floor now. These functions become available after you complete Professor Elm's errand. The Time Capsule, which allows you to transfer Pokémon from Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow opens up later on.

The Pokémon Mart is the best place to find Poké Balls, potions, and other goodies. At the start of the game, the shop is out of Poké Balls. Lucky for you, a shipment arrives right after you finish Professor Elm's errand!

Once you've picked up HM02 (Surf), sail over the lake to the boy on the island. Talk to him and he'll give you the Mystic Water item. When attached to a Pokémon, this trinket increases the strength of any Water-based move it uses.

Rival Battle #1

Remember that rude boy hanging around outside Professor Elm's Lab? He's stolen a Pokémon from the good professor and is on the run!

At this point in the game, your Rival isn't much of a threat. Take time to level up your Starting Pokémon to L6 or L7 while you complete Professor Elm's errand. It's also a good idea to heal your Pokémon completely before you attempt to exit the city. Make sure it has a Berry attached.

Your Rival's Pokémon will differ, depending on the Pokémon you chose at the start of the game.

Routes 30 and 31

Initially, a couple of fighting Trainers block your progress down Routes 30 and 31. Later on, they'll give you your first experience battling other people's Pokémon. To complete Professor Elm's errand, you need only take the path to the right (through the forest and tall grass) to Mr. Pokémon's house!

NOTE

If you forgot to speak to your mom when asked by Professor Elm, expect a phone call from her offering to save a small percentage of your battle winnings for you once you've fought a couple of Trainer Battles. Take her up on the offer. That way, whenever you need money, you can go home and withdraw some from your savings!

The guy who lives in the house right outside Cherrygrove City knows all about how to use Berries. Attach one to a Pokémon and the Pokémon will use it to heal itself automatically during battle. You'll find a variety of Berry types throughout the world of Pokémon Gold and Silver. Some cure status anomalies such as Poison or Burn; others recover your Pokémon's HP.

After you complete Professor Elm's errand, you'll find the Trainers blocking the road have moved on. Take care—they haven't gone far and are itching to get involved in another Pokémon battle!

Hidden in the wooded depths along Route 30 stands the home of Mr. Pokémon. It seems he has a strange egg for Professor Elm to study and you must carry it carefully back to New Bark Town! You'll also meet Mr. Pokémon's guest, Professor Oak, creator of the PokéDex. Impressed by your desire to become a Pokémon Master, he'll give you a PokéDex of your own! When you find the Red Scale at the Lake of Rage, return to Mr. Pokémon's house and he'll give you the Exp. Share item as a reward.

Bellsprout occupies an unusual place of honor in the hearts of Violet City residents. If you managed to pick one up on Route 31, consider trading it to Kyle for his Onix. When you trade Pokémon in this game, remember that the level of the Pokémon you get in exchange is the same as the one you traded. Don't think you can trade an L3 Bellsprout for an Onix that's all set to take on Falkner in the Violet City Gym!

If you're new to Pokémon, you'll definitely want to pay a visit to Earl's Pokémon Academy. Earl is taking a breather near the Violet City Gym, but talk to him and he'll be glad to give you a short tour of his school. Talk to the students and read the day's lesson on the blackboard to gather tips for becoming a top-notch Pokémon Trainer!

Sprout Tower is a Violet City landmark and well worth a visit. The Sages inside will teach you the "Way of Pokémon." If you pass their lessons and make it to the Sage at the top of the Tower, you'll receive a wonderful prize!

After you defeat Falkner and win the Zephyr Badge, expect a call from Professor Elm. He offers you a chance to make Pokémon history. He's discovered something about the Mystery Egg you brought him and he wants you to baby-sit it. Pick up the Egg from his assistant at the Violet City Pokémon Center and keep it in your belt with your other active Pokémon. After it's traveled with you for a while, an amazing thing happens: it hatches! What kind of Pokémon is inside?

You must have an empty slot in your Pokémon belt or you can't take possession of the Mystery Egg. When it hatches, take the new Pokémon back to Professor Elm and you'll get a reward.

Gym Leader Battle: Falkner of the Violet City Gym

Chikorita fans, this gym is not for you! As you may have noticed in your battles with Pidgey and Hoothoot, Grass-type Pokémon fare poorly against Flying attacks. This puts you at a disadvantage unless you have other Pokémon waiting in the wings—a somewhat difficult feat at this point in the game. Your best bet is to level Chikorita up in the Sprout Tower until it evolves into Bayleef at L16.

If you chose Totodile or Cyndaquil at the start of the game, you should have no problem withstanding Falkner's challenge. If you're unsure of your Pokémon's abilities, try one or both regular Trainers in the Gym first. If you can defeat them easily, continue to Falkner. If you can't, consider completing the Sprout Tower event first.

Because flying Pokémon are vulnerable to Rock-type attacks, consider picking up a Geodude on Route 46 and training it until it reaches L11 and learns the Rock Throw move.

Fortify Badge: This badge raises the Attack of all of your Pokémon and allows you to use HM05 (Flash) outside of Battle.

TM31 (Mud-Slap): This move, a favorite of Falkner's, works offensively and defensively at the same time by reducing your opponent's Accuracy while causing the damage of a normal attack.

Sprout Tower

Some say Sprout Tower was built around the swaying stem of a 100-foot-tall Bellsprout. Others claim the tower's central pillar sways because of the people training upstairs. In any case, Sprout Tower has long been a center for learning about Pokémon training. If you can make it to the very top, past the Trainers on the floors above, you'll win HM05 (Flash). You can complete this challenge any time before or after you take on Falkner in the Violet City Gym.

Route 32 is one of the game's busiest routes! Here you'll find many different Trainer and Wild Pokémon types. In addition to finding Pokémon in the grass, once you pick up the Old Rod at the Pokémon Center, you can start fishing!

The people of Violet City are so friendly! This gentleman stands at the entrance to Route 32 and gives out souvenirs of the city to passersby. Talk to him to receive a Miracle Seed. Attached to a Pokémon, this token boosts the strength of its Grass-type moves.

After you pick up HM01 (Cut), you can destroy the tree blocking your way to this young man. Talk to him to get TM05 (Roar) as a reward. This move forces even the strongest opponent to flee when you battle Pokémon in the wild. In Trainer Battles, this move forces Trainers to exchange the opponent Pokémon for another in their belts.

A strange and mysterious history lies behind the Ruins of Alph. The runes on the ruin walls indicate the existence of an ancient Pokémon type called an "Unown." You must figure out whether or not this Pokémon is extinct.

Puzzle Room

Complete the sliding-panel puzzles in the four Mystery Stone Panel Chambers around the ruins proper to partly solve the mystery behind the ruins and the Unown. At the start of the game, you can access only the first Stone Panel Chamber north of the Research Lab. The remaining three require HM03 (Surf) and a Pokémon who can use it. Chamber 2 lies south, across a small lake; gain access to chambers 3 and 4 through Union Cave. The more puzzles you solve, the more Unown variations you can capture in the ruins.

Solving a stone slab puzzle sends a new flood of Unown variations into the ruins. There are 26 types of Unowns, one for each letter of the alphabet (alphabet, Ruins of Alph—get it?). Your challenge is to collect one of each type. To help you, scientists in the Ruins of Alph Research Center will give you an upgrade to your PokéDex called the Unowndex—but only once you've captured three different Unowns. This upgrade allows you to keep track of all the Unown variations in the order you catch them. Remember! To catch all the Unowns, you first must solve all four of the Stone Panel puzzles.

After you complete the Unowndex, take it to the scientists and they'll allow you to hook it up to a Game Boy® Printer. Now you can print messages and stuff using the Unown font!

The people in the town are pretty glum about the disappearance of their beloved Slowpoke, but Kurt is the only one willing to do anything about it. In calmer times, Kurt is known for his customized Poké Balls. He takes hollowed-out Apricorns and fits them with special devices, turning them into super-effective Poké Balls for catching certain types of Pokémon. If you help him with the Slowpoke dilemma, he'll make some of these special Poké Balls for you, starting with a Lure Ball. Afterwards, all you have to do is bring him an Apricorn and after 24 hours have elapsed, he'll have completed another Poké Ball.

When you want Kurt to make you a special Ball, just bring him an Apricorn!

TIP

The color of the Apricorn corresponds to the type of Ball Kurt can make. For example, the WHT Apricorn tree behind Kurt's house is used to create Fast Balls. Here's a brief conversion table to help you decide which Apricorns to gather.

When you first arrive in Azalea Town, the entrance to Slowpoke Well is blocked by a suspicious character. When Kurt goes rushing off to help the Slowpoke, he takes care of the guard and you can follow him into the well. Wonder what's going on down there?

Once you take care of Team Rocket in the Slowpoke Well, head toward the Charcoal Kiln. The Charcoal Man is concerned that his Apprentice has been gone so long in the Ilex Forest. Is it laziness or is he lost? Go into the Ilex Forest and try to find out what's going on. Then, when the mystery is solved, return to the Charcoal Kiln to receive a reward from the Apprentice: a piece of Charcoal! Charcoal, when attached to a Pokémon, increases the strength of its Fire-type moves!

The other thing you can do once you've taken care of the problem in Slowpoke Well is take on Buggy, the Leader of the Azalea Town Gym. Free the Slowpoke and your entrance is no longer barred. Be careful, though! Buggy's Bug-themed Gym is full of hidden dangers! You will want to stock up on Antidote potions before you take them on.

Harden	Harden	Fury Cutter

Prizes

Hive Badge: Makes Pokémon up to L30 obey you and allows you to use HM01 (Cut) outside of battle.

TM49 (Fury Cutter): This move, a favorite of Bugsy's Scyther, increases in power every turn it is successfully used. The increase in strength stops when the attack misses.

Recommended Pokémon Type

Fire
Rock
Water

In a nutshell, Bug-type Pokémon don't like fire, so if you have Quilava on your team you're all set! They also don't like the attacks of Flying- or Rock-type Pokémon, so if you've been training a Pidgey, Hoothoot, Geodude or Onix, you are also primed for this battle. Even a Croconaw-based team will have no problem with the Bug-theme of the Azalea City Gym. Bayleef-based teams, on the other hand, have a bumpy road ahead of them since Bug Pokémon have a huge advantage over Grass Pokémon.

Psnureberries are a must in this Gym, since they will cure Poison without causing you to sacrifice an attack round. In the battle with Bugsy, this is especially important since you will want to bring out a Pokémon in full health when you go up against his Scyther. Bugsy's Scyther relies heavily upon the Fury Cutter attack and after a couple of rounds it has the strength to take a L20+ Bayleef out in a single blow. If you are concerned about your Pokémon's ability to take this monster out, you can easily change his attack plan with the use of any Paralysis-causing move or something that will decrease his Accuracy. A Mareep or Flaaffy armed with Flash and Thunderwave is a good investment for this battle.

Rival Battle #2!

When you go to enter the Ilex Forest (any time after you complete the Slowpoke Well event), you'll quickly find your path blocked by your trash-talking Rival. He can't believe that you of all people managed to foil Team Rocket's Slowpoketail scheme, and he wants to see how strong you are now!

Battle Pokémon

Gastly	L12
Zubat	L14
Bayleef, Croconaw or Quilava	L16
(based on your Starting Pokémon)

Watch your back when you go to enter the Ilex Forest. You don't want your rival to sneak up on you!

Of all of the Rival Battles in the game, this is probably the most critical. At this point in the game, you've both been collecting and training your Pokémon for awhile and this is the first battle where you'll get to see how compatible these teams are. In addition, this battle will make it clear that your opponent's Starting Pokémon has an advantage over your own. Namely, your Rival will always choose as his Starting Pokémon the one that is strongest against yours. As a result, it is a good idea to have another Pokémon waiting in the wings if things start to look bad (as in the case of his Quilava against your Bayleef). Consider bringing a Mareep/Flaaffy, or any other complementary Pokémon into battle.

Slowpoke Well

The Slowpoke Well was originally called Rainmaker Well but was renamed 400 years ago after a Slowpoke's yawn summoned a rainstorm that brought an end to a drought. Now, this well has been taken over by Team Rocket as the base of operations for their new business: Slowpoketails! These tasty treats are made by cutting the tails off of the loveable Slowpoke who live in the area, and now the human residents are getting concerned.

To get into the Slowpoke Well you must first seek out Kurt in Azalea Town. He then chases the guards away before tumbling into the well and throwing out his back. Ouch! Now, it's your turn to take over and run Team Rocket out of town!

KURT: Hey there, SILVER!

Kurt means well, but a terrible accident means that you have to shoulder the job of defeating Team Rocket and saving the Slowpoke!

Once you get the ability to use both HM04 (Strength) and HM03 (Surf), return to the Slowpoke Well and venture down to the basement. You'll meet a Slowpoke researcher there who has discovered that Slowpoke holding the King's Rock often get bitten by Shellder and evolve into Slowking! Take the King's Rock he gives you and try it out for yourself!

SILVER received KING'S ROCK.

Attach the King's Rock to a Slowpoke of your own and see what happens when you trade it to a friend over a Game Link!

Ilex Forest

Ilex Forest is known for its size and frightening darkness. It is very easy to get lost in here! You'll need HM01 (Cut) in order to get to the end of the forest, so keep an eye out for the opportunity to earn that item!

The Charcoal Man's Apprentice (from Azalea Town) is in a frenzy. He's lost his master's FarFetch'd and is afraid to go too deep into the forest to find it. Chase the FarFetch'd around the forest until you get it back to where the Apprentice is waiting. The Charcoal Man will meet you there and reward you with HM01 (Cut). Once you teach Cut to one of your Pokémon, it will be able to cut down the small saplings that block the path to the northern part of the forest. In addition, you should return to the Charcoal Kiln to get a special reward from the Apprentice himself.

It's the missing POKÉMON!

Chase the FarFetch'd back to its owners to get a great reward!

Be sure to pick up TM02 (Headbutt) from this guy as you make your way through the forest. This is one of a few "regular" moves that has both battle and field uses. In the field you can use it to shake the Pokémon out of the small triangular trees that grow in the shadow of the larger ones. The Pokémon who appear differ based on whether the tree is considered a "Mountain Tree" or a "Forest Tree." There are four Pokémon that can only be found in this way, so start headbutting those trees!

I'm shaking trees using HEADBUTT.

Shaking small trees (like the one next to the boy) is a lot of fun!

Talk to the Butterfree Trainer in the gatehouse and she'll give you TM12 (Sweet Scent). When you use this move outside of battle, it attracts Wild Pokémon to you.

Route 34

This long stretch of road next to the sea is one that you will travel upon quite often, especially if you are in pursuit of all the baby Pokémon you can find! Route 34 is home to the Day-Care, a place run by an elderly couple with a knack for training Pokémon and letting surprising things happen. If the Day-Care doesn't interest you, then continue north to the metropolitan Goldenrod City, where many diversions await!

Items

1. Soft Sand

The Day-Care on Route 34 serves a dual purpose. Its main goal is to train your Pokémon for you. You can leave up to two Pokémon with the couple who run the facility and, for a one-time fee of P100 plus P100 for every level the Pokémon grows, they will take care of and train your Pokémon while you continue adventuring. However, if you happen to leave two Pokémon behind of different genders (i.e. a male and a female), there's a chance that something miraculous will happen by the time you return: a Pokémon Egg will be born! See Chapter 3 for more in-depth information about how to breed Pokémon!

Only Pokémon who are interested in one another have a chance of producing a Pokémon Egg. Talk to them out in the yard to find out their feelings for one another.

If your Pokémon have produced an Egg, you'll find the Day-Care Man waiting for you outside in the yard. You can even see him from Route 34!

Once you pick up HM03 (Surf) in Ecruteak City, be sure to explore Route 34 a little bit further. A trio of sisters have made a hidden alcove their secret training spot and they don't like intruders. If you win a battle against each one, they will give you the Soft Sand item. When you attach this to a Pokémon, it powers up its Ground-type moves!

You will find your travels much easier if you heed this simple request: get the Bicycle from the Bicycle Shop as soon as you enter Goldenrod City. The Bicycle Shop is having this problem, you see. Its out-of-the-way location makes it almost impossible for shoppers to find. To remedy this, the owners are willing to give you a Bicycle for free if you'll ride it around and advertise for the shop. This is a great deal for you and it will double your traveling speed!

The Goldenrod City Department Store is usually on the top of every Trainer's list when they visit Goldenrod City, and with good reason. This store has almost everything you could possibly need! The 5th Floor is especially important for travelers looking for freebies.

First, find the little girl by the stairways and talk to her to activate the Mystery Gift function. This allows you to trade for gifts using the Game Boy® Color's IR-Device (See the Sealed Section for a list of what you can get!). If you are not playing this game on a Game Boy Color, the little girl will not appear!

If you have an extra Drowzee, trade it to this man for a Machop. Then, talk to him again to get a Gold Berry!

On Sundays a woman comes to the Department Store to give away TMs to trainers. Look for her behind the counter on the 5th Floor and see what you get. This woman will give you one of two TMs based on your lead Pokémon's affection rating. If it really likes you, she'll give you TM27 (Return). If you show her a Pokémon that hates you, you'll get TM21 (Frustration). If you show her a Pokémon that doesn't feel strongly one way or another, you'll get nothing. If you are unsure of how your lead Pokémon feels, take it to the nearby Happiness Rater.

In this small house lives a woman with a special gift for determining how much your Pokémon like you. When you visit, she will judge the happiness of your lead Pokémon—the Pokémon who is first in your belt. There are six variations of Happiness from "It doesn't seem to like you at all. It looks mean." to "It looks really happy! It must really love you a lot." For more information about the Happiness factor see Chapter 3.

While you are in Goldenrod City, you must visit the Radio Tower to get your free Radio Card. Just answer the woman's questions correctly and this new PokéGear upgrade is yours!

There are entrances to the Goldenrod City Underground in the north and south parts of town. The Underground is a strange place, full of anxious Trainers, weird shops, and maze-like warehouses. Enter at your own risk, but do enter!

Goldenrod City is home to a stop on the extremely fast, extremely hi-tech Magnet Train. This high-speed train shuttles passengers back and forth between Goldenrod City and Saffron City in Kanto. The only problem is that the train is running a bit behind schedule—in fact, one hasn't arrived in quite a while! Someone ought to go to Saffron City and find out what the holdup is!

To the north of the Magnet Train is the home of the Name Rater. If you are unhappy about the nicknames you've given to your Pokémon, you can talk to him and he'll help you change them. The only catch is that you cannot change the names of Pokémon you've received in a trade!

The Goldenrod City Gym lies in the northeast corner of this large city and is run by Gym Leader Whitney. Whitney and her girlfriends are all into cute Normal-type Pokémon like Clefairy, Jigglypuff, and Snubbull. If you can defeat her, you'll win the admiration of all of the city's residents.

Next door to the Gym, you'll find a lovely plant Nursery whose owners have seen the strangest thing on Route 36. A tree is blocking the way and when you water it, it jumps! If you defeat Whitney, the woman here will give you a Squirtbottle full of water so you can try to move it yourself.

10

Bill, the Pokémaniac responsible for the Pokémon Storage System, has family here in Goldenrod City. When you run into him in Ecruteak City's Pokémon Center, follow him back to their home and talk to him. Not only can you get his Phone Number, he'll also give you an Eevee!

The Games of the Game Corner

If you spent a lot of time in the Celadon City Game Corner in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow, then you will be pleased with the improvements made over the last three years. First of all, to play on the machines here, you need to get the Coin Case that a gambler discarded in the Underground Passage.

Next, you need to get some Coins. At the counter in the back of the Game Corner, you can exchange your money for Coins. You can get 50 Coins for P1000 or 500 Coins for P10,000. Once you have Coins in your Coin Case, you can play either the Slot Machines or the Card Flip machines. Be sure to move from machine to machine until you find the one that offers you the best odds of winning. And don't be surprised if the machine tries to help you cheat....

There's that man's Coin Case!

Slot Machines

The Slot Machines haven't changed very much since the days of Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. You can bet anything from 1 to 3 Coins, depending upon how much you have to spend and how many ways you want to win. The more you spend, the more ways you can win. If you bet a single coin, you must match three in a row in the center row in order to win. Spend 2 Coins and you will win if you match three in a row in any of the three rows. With 3 coins, you expand your winning possibilities to three in a row diagonally in addition to any of the three rows for a total of 5 possible ways to win.

NOTE

The more money you spend, the better your chances of winning. The meter on the left side of your Game Boy screen shows the number of coins spent, while the color-coded lines show how your winning possibilities grow.

The prize money given out for the Slot Machine is as follows:

	Cherry x3	P6
	Pikachu x3	P8
	Squirtle x3	P10
	Staryu x3	P15
	Poké Ball x3	P50
	777	P300

Card Flip

Card Flip is a new addition to the Game Corners. The Card Flip machines are found on the right side of the Game Corner and, depending upon who you ask, are considered easier to win big on (especially if you have good psychic powers!).

The game is played with a deck of 24 cards made up of four suites (Pikachu, Jigglypuff, Poliwhag, and Oddish), each numbered from 1 to 6. The deck is shuffled once at the start of a session, which is equal to up to 12 rounds of play (you can quit at any time). At the start of a round, two cards are dealt face-down onto the table and you must pick one of the two (the second is discarded).

The interesting thing about Card Flip is that you set the odds, and the amount you can win, with your bet. You can choose to bet on the exact suite and number of the card for the maximum reward (i.e. Pikachu 1) or you can bet by suite (i.e., Pikachu), by two suites (i.e., Pikachu and Jigglypuff), by a single number (i.e., 1 of any suite) or by two numbers (i.e., 1 and 2 of any suite). The amount you win is shown on the perimeter of the game board and reflects the odds of your choice. If you choose to bet on the exact suite and number of the card (which has the lowest odds of winning), you will win 24 times your bet (i.e. 72 Coins). In comparison, choosing to bet on 2 suites (which gives you the highest odds of winning) only pays out 2 times your wager (i.e. 6 Coins) if you win.

- 1) The cards are shuffled and your money taken.
- 2) Choose a card from the two dealt.
- 3) Place your bet.
- 4) Player wins 9 Coins!

The Rewards of Winning

When you are through playing on the machines, talk to the women behind the counter on the right side of the Game Corner and you can exchange your winnings for some fabulous prizes! They have TMs and Pokémon that you may not be able to get anywhere else.

Gym Leader Battle: Whitney of the Goldenrod City Gym

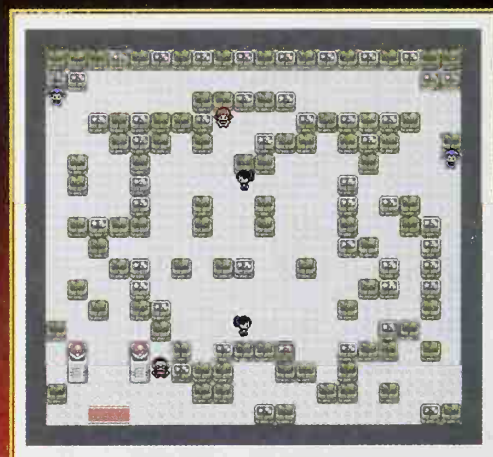

Battle Pokémon

Clefairy ♀ L18	Miltank ♀ L20
Doubleslap	Rollout
Mimic	Attract
Encore	Stomp
Metronome	Milk Drink

Recommended Pokémon Type

Fighting
Rock

Whitney's Miltank is the Pokémon to watch out for here, especially if you have a lot of male Pokémon in your team! Miltank's preferred method of attack against men is to charm them with Attract (causing your Pokémon to fall in love with her and refuse to attack 50% of the time) and then pummel them with Rollout. Rollout is a lot like the Boy Cutter move that Bugsy's Scyther used. It increases in strength with each successful hit, so the best way to defeat it is to increase the chances that it will fail. Ideally, the best Pokémon to use against the Miltank is one who can defeat both Attract and Rollout: a female Machop, perhaps, or just a female Pokémon with the move Flash or any Confusion-, Paralyze-, or Sleep-inducing move.

Defeating Whitney makes her cry, so talk to her friend Bridget until she gets herself back together. Then, (and don't forget to do this!) talk to her a second time and get the Plain Badge and TM45 (Attract) from her. It is very easy to skip this step and leave the Gym without the Badge that you've fought so hard for.

Prizes

Plain Badge: Boosts all of your Pokémon's Speed and allows you to use HM04 (Strength) outside of battle.

TM45 (Attract): Causes opponent Pokémon of the opposite gender to fall in love with the casting Pokémon. Pokémon in love fail to attack 50% of the time!

Goldenrod City Underground

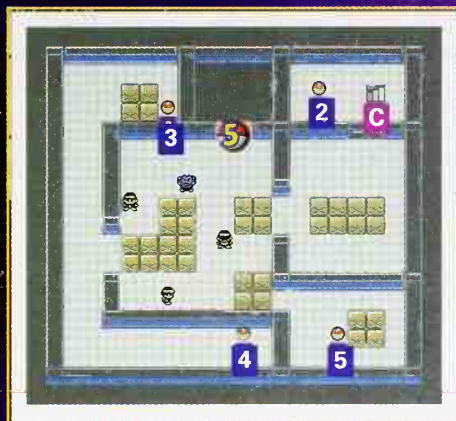

The Underground in Goldenrod City is home to a variety of events. It is here that you will find the storerooms of the Department Store, lineups of battle-hungry trainers, and a couple of special shops. Don't overlook this unusual area when exploring Goldenrod City.

If you take the Department Store elevator down to the basement (Floor B1), you'll find the employees there hard at work moving the stock around. They don't seem to mind if you pick up the stuff that's lying around on the floor. Every time you return you'll find new openings and new items to take. Three trips is all you'll need to make to clear out the warehouse!

To open the door here you need the Basement Key. You can get this item later in the game, once Team Rocket's taken over the Radio Tower. Just corner the Imposter Director and he'll hand it over!

The switch puzzle in this section of the Underground is pretty tricky to figure out on your own. However, once you defeat the Team Rocket Grunts, they'll tell you everything you need to know. The order to flip the switches is the opposite of the order in which you encounter them. In other words, turn them on in the following order: Switch 3 → Switch 2 → Switch 1. Once you get through the shuttered rooms, turn the Emergency Switch on and you can pass to the next room!

In the middle of this warehouse, you'll find the Director of the Radio Tower. Set him free and he'll reward you with the Card Key that you need to open up the right side of the Radio Tower. You can now finish running Team Rocket out of town! However, before you run back to the Radio Tower, take the stairs at Point B to the basement of the Department Store. You can pick up the Amulet Coin, a wonderful token which doubles the amount of money you receive in Trainer Battles. Just attach it to a Pokémon and be sure to use it in battle!

Rival Battle #4

It seems that your Rival is now stalking you. After three losses, you'd think he'd get a clue!

After that crushing defeat at Lance's hands, the last thing you'd expect is for your Rival to show up here while you are trying to rid Goldenrod City of Team Rocket. But you have to admire his persistence. Before you can rescue the Director, you are going to have to defeat your Rival once again.

At this point in the game, with 7 Badges in your possession, you should be able to defeat your Rival without much thought. This time around his posse has grown from four Pokémon to five with the addition of the Dark/Ice Pokémon, Sneasel. Recommended move-types to use against his group include Electric, Fighting, Fire, and Psychic; all moves which your well-balanced team should have in their possession. If not, you'll just have to rely on brute strength and, since your Rival's Pokémon aren't much stronger than any of the Gym Leaders' you've defeated lately, you should have the advantage there.

Radio Tower

Goldenrod City's Radio Tower is home to many of Johto's most beloved radio shows. If you are a big fan of "Prof. Oak's Pokémon Talk" or the "Lucky Number Channel," you will definitely want to check this place out. Don't have a Radio Card? You can pick one up from the front desk if you can correctly answer the questions in their special quiz campaign. It's a shame, though, that access to the recording studios is restricted. I wonder what's going on with the Director?

Every Friday, the "Lucky Number Channel" announces their new Lucky ID Number on the air. If you happen to be in the area, you should stop by the front desk and have the person there check to see if any of your Pokémon's ID Numbers match the one chosen. If two of the numbers match, you win a PP Up. Match three and you get an Exp. Share. If all 5 digits match the week's Lucky Numbers, you win the ultimate prize: a Master Ball! Be sure to trade Pokémon with a lot of people in order to increase your chances of winning one of the prizes.

During your first trip to the Radio Tower, be sure to take the quiz challenge offered by the woman at the front desk. The questions aren't that hard and you can reenter as often as it takes to win the Radio Card.

Once you win your 7th Badge, you'll get a disturbing call about the status of the Radio Tower. It seems that Team Rocket has decided to take it over and is broadcasting an all-points bulletin to their missing leader, Giovanni. After the mess at the Lake of Rage, you will certainly want to put an end to their occupation in Goldenrod City. The first step in this quest is to find the Director. Unfortunately, he's not in his office as you were told. An Imposter is sitting at his desk instead! Corner him and find out where Team Rocket is holding the Director.

NOTE

As the game progresses, you'll notice more and more Team Rocket members congregating in Goldenrod City. Once they take over the Radio Tower, all activity in the rest of the city comes to a halt as their reinforcements block streets and access to many of your favorite venues. Once you foil this latest scheme, Goldenrod City will return to normal.

Your final battle against Team Rocket is against one of their top Executives. Defeat him and the Director will return with an invaluable prize: one of the feathers you need to catch one of the new Legendary Birds, Lugia and Ho-Oh. If you are playing the Gold version, you'll get the Rainbow Wing which grants you access to the Tin Tower in Ecruteak City and summons Ho-Oh to the tower's roof. If you are playing the Silver version, you win the Silver Wing. This summons Lugia to its special chamber deep within the Whirl Islands.

Once you free the Director from his cell in the Underground, you can open this locked door with the Card Key he gives you as a reward. Just think! Only five more Trainer battles until the Radio Tower and Goldenrod City are free again!

As you make your way back down the Radio Tower, be sure to talk to the employees that you saved from Team Rocket. Most of them will give you a reward for your bravery.

Route 35

Route 35 lies north of Goldenrod City and leads to the restful National Park, home of Relaxation Square and the Bug-Catching Contest. It's a pretty short road, but it's lined with Trainers waiting to challenge you. If you're having problems defeating Whitney at the Goldenrod City Gym, this is a good place to level up your Pokémon.

Items

1. HP UP
2. Mysteryberry
3. TM04 (Rollout)

Talk to the attendant in the Goldenrod City-Route 35 gatehouse and he'll ask you to deliver a message to his sleepy friend on Route 31, just outside Violet City. You must have room in your active party for the messenger Pokémon he gives you. After you deliver the message to his friend, you'll receive TM50 (Nitemare) from him as a reward. The next time you're in the gatehouse, let the attendant know your delivery was successful to get TM04 (Rollout), as well.

When you talk to this Guard at nite, he'll challenge you to a battle. Watch out for his "Roar-ing" Growlithe!

This shady, relaxing park is the best place to pick up Bug Pokémon and the new Sunkern. The Bug-Catching Contest

On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, the Bug-Catching Contest takes place in National Park. This contest pits you against Bug Catchers and Elite Trainers in a race to see who can capture the biggest and best Bug in the park. It works this way:

You can take one Pokémon into the park with you, so choose wisely. While you're in the park you can't heal that Pokémon, so make sure the one you choose is strong and durable. Move(s) your chosen Pokémon to the top of your list, and then talk to the attendant at either park entrance. If you decide to use any other Pokémon, you'll get a chance to make the appropriate changes and talk to the attendant again when you're ready.

If you have more than one Pokémon in your party, the attendant will store your other Pokémon, as well as most of your Items. He'll also give you Park Balls. If you played in the Safari Zone in Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow, what happens next will sound familiar. The Park Ball is a generic Poké Ball you may use only during the Bug-Catching Contest. Once you're inside the park, you have 20 minutes to find and capture the best bug you can.

The contest ends when...

- * your Pokémon faints.
- * time runs out.
- * your supply of Park Balls runs out.
- * you leave the park.

At the end of the contest, everyone convenes in the eastern gatehouse to learn the results. Winners receive the following prizes:

First Place: Sun Stone
Second Place: Everstone
Third Place: Gold Berry
Consolation Prize: Berry

Tips for Winning the Bug-Catching Contest

Play through your first Bug-Catching Contest and you'll have an idea of what it takes to win a prize. There are a lot of Pokémon in the park but few will get you a first-place score. The only Pokémon even close to being sure things are Pinsir and Scyther. If you can catch a L14 (and they appear very, very rarely!), you're virtually guaranteed first place. If you're after the Sun Stone, make that your initial goal!

Another deciding factor is your chosen Pokémon's condition. The less damaged your entry, the better your score. Bring in a high-level Pokémon equipped with a Sleep-inducing move such as Lovely Kiss, Sleep Powder, and the like and put your target Pokémon to Sleep during the first round before you attempt to catch it with Park Balls!

Here are more tips and ideas:

- Concentrate on searching the taller grass on the north side of the park instead of the short grass to the south. The better Pokémon prefer to hide in those long blades of grass.
- If you can't find a L14 Pinsir or Scyther, consider capturing a L15 Butterfree or Beedrill. Once in a while, one of those will manage a victory if the competition has an off day.
- If you're trying to complete your PokéDex, use the Bug-Catching Contest to capture any Bug Pokémon that don't normally appear in your version of the game. For example, if you're playing the Gold version, you can pick up Weedle, Kakuna, and Beedrill here.

To get this tree-like Pokémon to move(s) out of the way, you'll need the Squirtbottle from Goldenrod City. Squirt the Pokémon with water and it will attack you immediately—your one and only chance to capture a Sudowoodo. You don't want to waste this opportunity, so be sure to save your game before starting the battle. Defeating or capturing the Sudowoodo remove(s) it from the path and allows you to continue your travels.

Before you head north to Ecruteak City, talk to the man directly to the right of where the Sudowoodo used to stand. Clearing the road of that weird tree impressed him; to show his appreciation, he gives you TMo8 (Rock Smash). Rock Smash, like the Headbutt move, is another of those moves that has a use outside of battle. Rock Smash lets you destroy rocks that have already started breaking apart. Breaking such boulders helps you clear paths, and you might just release a Krabby or other Pokémon.

If it's Thursday, it's time to search for Arthur of Thursday on Route 36. Arthur gives away the Hard Stone token, which increases the strength of a Pokémon's Rock-type moves.

On Sundays, you'll find Sunny of Sunday hanging around the Apricorn trees on Route 37. Sunny gives you the Magnet token if you remember to look for her. The Magnet, when attached to a Pokémon, increases the strength of Electric-type moves.

Ecruteak City

The City of Ecruteak is known for two things—its affection for the traditions of the past and its status as the former home of several Legendary Pokémon. Once upon a time, two Legendary Birds made their homes in Ecruteak City, roosting on the peaks of the two towers in the northeast and northwest corners of the city. When one of the towers burned down, both birds took off, never to be seen again.

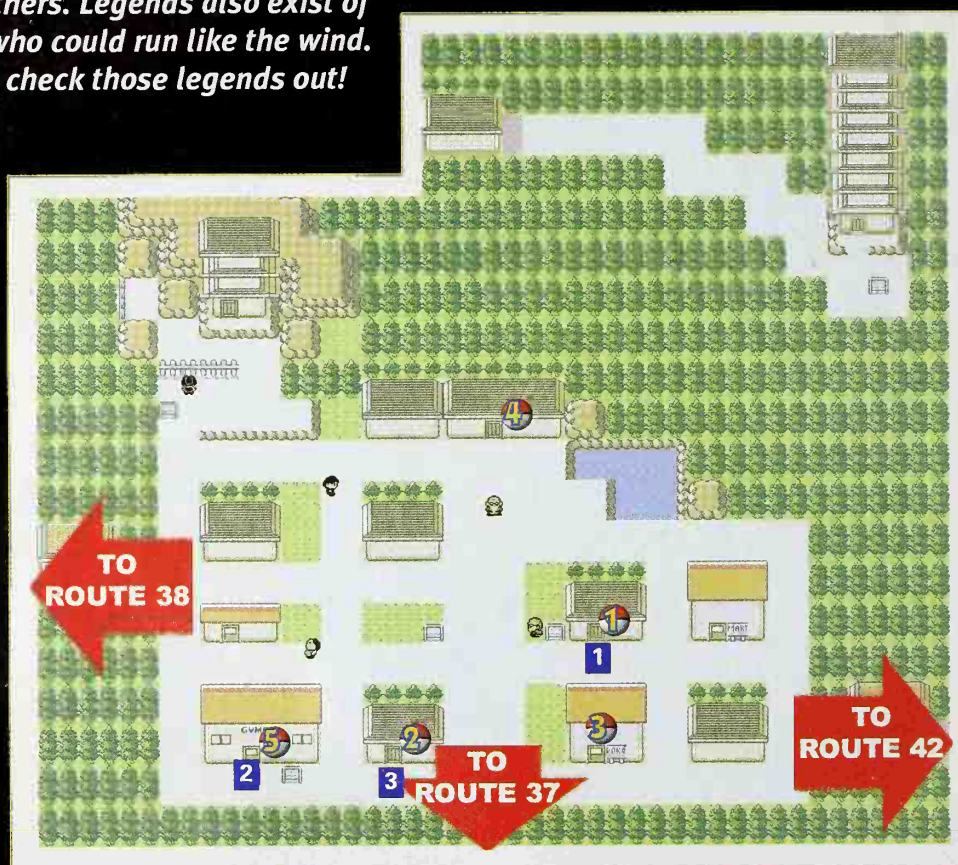

However, some people claim to have seen them still living today and talk about the magical powers of their feathers. Legends also exist of three Legendary Pokémon who could run like the wind. Perhaps it would be wise to check those legends out!

Think of Ecruteak City as the place where you learned to Surf! It seems strange that you could learn such a move in a traditional village such as this, surrounded by trees and little water, but it's true.

Start by winning HMo3 (Surf) from the owner of the Ecruteak Dance Theater. Your challenge is to take on his troupe of five Kimono Girls, who all carry a single form of the Eevee Pokémon. Defeat all five (an easy task!) and the owner will surrender HMo3 with no argument. See? You're well on your way to Surfing stardom! All you need now is the Fog Badge and a Pokémon who can swim.

Stop into the Ecruteak City Pokémon Center for some good news: Bill has finished adjusting the Time Capsules and tomorrow they'll be ready to use! The Time Capsule allows you to transfer Pokémon between Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow and Pokémon Gold and Silver. (But you can't transfer new Pokémon or old Pokémon with new move(s) from Gold and Silver to Red, Blue, or Yellow.) It's said that Pokémon transferred from the past arrive bearing gifts. Maybe you should find your old Game Pak and give it a try?

Talking to the boy in this house earns you a helpful tool—the ItemFinder. This piece of equipment alerts you to any hidden treasure in the area. It doesn't work automatically, though (you must pull it out of your Backpack's Key Item slot and use it); nor does it pinpoint the Item itself (you must search every tile in the area indicated). You can, however, assign this tool to SELECT so you can use it more easily. In most cases you can find some informed soul who'll tell you whether an area has many hidden items. Test this in the Burned Tower and see what you think!

The entrance to the Tin Tower lies hidden beneath this building. You need the Fog Badge from the Ecruteak City Gym to enter the passage and the Rainbow Wing to enter the Tin Tower properly. Why is the Tower shrouded in such secrecy?

The Ecruteak City Gym is home to Morty and his gang of Mediums and Sages. Their Pokémon of choice are from the Ghost family, known for their total resistance to all Normal-type attacks. But these aren't the only ghosts you face at the Ecruteak City Gym! The floors themselves have taken on a ghostly quality and have all but disappeared. If you defeat the Trainers, they may give away the Gym's secret!

Fog Badge: Makes Pokémon up to L50 obey you; allows you to use HM03 (Surf) outside of battle.

Before you can challenge Morty, you must find the hidden path through the Gym. Talk to the Trainers after you defeat them and they'll tell you the path lies right before their eyes. Think about it, and everything should become clear. Furthermore, if you can defeat the Trainers' Ghost Pokémon, you can probably take out Morty's party pretty easily. Ghost Pokémon, such as the Gastly family used here, tend to follow one of two patterns: They use "moves" such as Hypnosis and Lick to immobilize your Pokémon, or an attack such as Mean Look to prevent your Pokémon from fleeing. This causes you to sacrifice attack turns to heal your Pokémon while the opposition continues to attack and damage. Watch out for combos like Hypnosis–Dream Eater and take some Full Heals or Awakening potions with you, just in case.

The trendy new move(s) for Ghost-type Pokémon is the unusual Curse. This move sacrifices half the caster's HP in return for Cursing the opponent Pokémon. A Cursed Pokémon loses HP much the way a Poisoned or Burned Pokémon does—a little at the end of each round. The difference is you can't cure a Curse! Used with Mean Look, this move can prove fatal to your attacking Pokémon.

The good news is that Curse is usually more of a help than a hindrance. Anytime an opponent's Pokémon inflicts damage on itself without costing you an attack is good. Build on it and you won't notice the effects of Curse on your own Pokémon. And don't forget that the entire Gastly clan includes Poison-type Pokémon in addition to Ghost types. Psychic- and Ground-type attacks are very effective against them. (But remember that Ghost-type attacks are strong against Psychic Pokémon.)

Burned Tower

This tower, which burned to the ground in a mysterious fire, was once home to one of Johto's Legendary Birds. Now the remains are home to Trainers well versed in the lore of Fire Pokémon (as well as unconfirmed rumors of other Legendary Pokémon, hidden from the public eye).

It's that time again! Your Rival, drawn by the rumors of Legendary Pokémon, lies in wait at the entrance to the Burned Tower, ready to challenge you again. I hope you remembered to visit the Pokémon Center before you came here!

If you don't have a Pokémon equipped with TM08 (Rock Smash), you have no chance of finding this tower's true treasure. When you jump down the hole in the center of Floor 1F, you end up in front of the immobile statues of the three Legendary Pokémon—Raikou, Suicune, and Entei. Move too close and these statues will come to life and make a run for it! You can't battle any of them here, but bringing them to life does give you the chance to find them hiding in the long grass around the Johto Region. See the Sealed Section for tips on how to hunt down and capture these elusive Pokémon!

Rival Battle #3

Your Rival has decided that, as the World's Greatest Trainer, he should have one of the Legendary Pokémon on his team. Could he be more delusional?

For this third Rival Battle, your Rival has added a new Pokémon to his arsenal—the tiny Magnemite. In Pokémon Gold and Silver, this Pokémon's type has changed from Electric to both Electric and Steel, increasing its resistance to many move types. However, the hot blast of a Fire-type attack or the rumble of a Ground-type attack will take out this new foe easily. The rest of your Rival's party is unchanged, and you'll find that your Rival's tactics remain the same, as well. Take him out as you would any normal Trainer!

Tin Tower

The Tin Tower is home to one of the two new Legendary Birds, the phoenix-like Ho-Oh. To capture this noble Pokémon, you'll need the Rainbow Wing. If you're playing the Gold version of the game, you'll get this Item after you free the Radio Tower in Goldenrod City from the evil plots of Team Rocket. If you're playing the Silver version, you'll have to wait until you get to Pewter City in Kanto and talk to a certain old man on the street. If you don't have the Rainbow Wing in your possession, this is as far as you can go in the Tin Tower. Talking to the gentleman blocking your way, however, will give an idea of how the Wing Items work. These feathers lure the Pokémon they once belonged to back to their nests. Without the appropriate Wing, you can't convince these Legendary Birds to land!

NOTE

If you're having problems getting to the top of the tower, check out the map solutions in the Sealed Section of this book.

Once the Rainbow Wing is stored in your Backpack and you've found your way through the tangled mass of ramps and teleporters inside Tin Tower, you end up on the roof staring at the rainbow-colored wings of Ho-Oh. Stop and save your game right now, before you get any closer to this magnificent, one-of-a-kind bird.

If you attempted to catch any of the Legendary Birds in Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow, you have a pretty good idea of how to approach this battle. Basically, you'll need to stock up on Poké Balls before you enter the Tower. You may use the Master Ball from Prof. Elm, if you like, or any of the regular Balls. Great Balls are less expensive than Ultra Balls and seem to work just as well. The catch is you need about 50 of them, and a few Pokémon at or above L40 with moves that cause Sleep, Paralysis, and reduce Accuracy.

Expect a long battle, unless you get really lucky. Ho-Oh will heal itself whenever it needs to. Ho-Oh's level and other types of moves depend on the version of the game you're playing. If you are playing Gold, Ho-Oh is at L40 when you encounter it; in Silver, it's at L70. Plan accordingly.

Start the battle casting a move such as Flash, to reduce Ho-Oh's Accuracy, again and again until the casting Pokémon faints or the move no longer has any effect. This helps neutralize some of Ho-Oh's powerful attacks by making them miss at least as often as they hit. The failure of these attacks helps increase your own Pokémon's life span.

Once you've destroyed Ho-Oh's Accuracy, start putting it to Sleep or Paralyze it and then begin to chip away at its HP. You need to hobble Ho-Oh as much as possible without killing it, so don't use attacks that are super-effective against Fire Pokémon or a Pokémon that's 20–30 levels higher than Ho-Oh. When you get Ho-Oh's HP Gauge down to a tiny sliver, start chucking Poké Balls at it—and keep your fingers crossed.

Routes 38 and 39

West of Ecruteak City lie the pastoral farmlands of MooMoo Farm, home to the most healthful Miltank Milk in all of Johto. If you follow Routes 38 and 39 south, you'll end up in the seaside city of Olivine, where the fair Jasmine looks after more than just the local Gym. Enjoy your walk through this pleasant area and be sure to check the grasses for signs of both new and old Pokémon.

The folks over at MooMoo Farm are having a serious problem. Their best Miltank is sick and has stopped producing milk. It needs lots of Berries and you're the only one who can get them.

When they say the Miltank needs lots of Berries, they aren't kidding. It takes seven Berries to cure this Pokémon of its illness, so unless you've been stockpiling them, you'll have to complete this quest over several days. You can find the simple Berry on routes 29, 30, 38, and 46. Or win one in the Bug-Catching Contest. Talk to the farmer, then take the Berries to the Miltank in the barn and offer them to it one at a time. After it eats the seventh Berry, it will be healed and you can claim your prize—TM13 (Snore)—from the happy farmers. You can also buy MooMoo Milk for P500 a bottle.

NOTE

Remember, you can find other Pokémon in the grasses of Routes 38 and 39.

Olivine City

Olivine City is home to the S.S. Aqua, a high-speed boat that travels between Olivine City Port and Vermilion City Port twice a week. The S.S. Aqua hosts special trips for Pokémon Trainers, making it a great place to train your Pokémon. Of course, you'll have to get the S.S. Ticket first! While you wait for that day to arrive, enjoy the crisp sea air and the hospitality of the sea-loving residents.

The gentleman in this house has a Voltorb he'll gladly trade for a Krabby. You can find Krabby on the shores of the port or by Rock Smash-ing the cracked boulders west of the city.

In the house near the Pokémon Mart lives another of those crazy fishermen. If you tell him how much you love to fish, he'll give you a Good Rod. His timing couldn't be better! Unless you chose Totodile as your Starting Pokémon, you probably need a Water-type Pokémon to teach Surf to. With the Good Rod, you can catch more Water Pokémon types, and at higher levels.

Olivine City is known for its large variety of Water Pokémon. Between the docks in the port area and the city shores, you can catch almost any type of Pokémon with a Good Rod. Watch for a couple of new Pokémon who combine the strength of Water with either Rock or Electric!

A man in the restaurant near the Pokémon Center teaches Pokémon the move Strength (HM04) for free. Because you have the Plain Badge from Goldenrod City already, you can use this move as soon as you find a Pokémon to teach it to. By the way, this move is required in the Cianwood City Gym!

Once you get all eight of the Johto Gym Badges and defeat the Elite Four, Prof. Elm gives you a ticket to sail to the Kanto Region on the S.S. Aqua. To catch the S.S. Aqua, just take your S.S. Ticket with you to the main pier in the Olivine City Port. For return trips, you must follow the ship's usual time table. You can find the S.S. Aqua in port on Mondays and Fridays.

Gym Leader Battle: Jasmine of the Olivine City Gym

Steel-type Pokémon are a new discovery, and Jasmine appears to be the only Trainer who's really mastered the specialty. Steel Pokémon are incredibly resistant to most move types. Bug, Dark, Dragon, Ghost, Grass, Flying, Ice, Normal, Psychic, Rock, and Steel moves have little effect on Steel Pokémon, and Poison attacks have no effect at all! Fighting-, Fire-, and Ground-type attacks are extremely strong against Steel Pokémon, but because Jasmine's Pokémon are Steel hybrids, you must consider the other types (Electric and Ground) when choosing attacks.

This can be a very tough battle if you have the wrong Pokémon on your team, or if they're not strong enough. Again, Typhlosion- and Feraligatr-based teams should have no problem defeating Jasmine, while Meganium-based teams will find the going tough. This is another battle where Accuracy-lowering moves come in very handy. The two Magnemite are pretty easy to dispose of with a strong Ground Pokémon or another Electric-type Pokémon, such as Ampharos. The Steelix is the troublesome part of the equation. Without a strong Water, Ground, or even Fire Pokémon, you'll want to concentrate on lowering this Pokémon's defenses before trying to take them out.

Olivine Lighthouse

Next to the Olivine City Port lies the majestic tower of the Olivine Lighthouse. The Lighthouse is usually staffed by an Ampharos named Amphy. Unfortunately, Amphy has come down with a cold and is in dire need of a special medication. Until then, Jasmine, the Olivine City Gym Leader, is sticking by its side.

Routes 40 and 41

Routes 40 and 41 are all wet! Until you get HMo2 (Fly) and the Storm Badge from the Cianwood City Gym, you'll have to Surf this waterway between Olivine City and Cianwood City. To make your life easier, consider completing all the events in Cianwood City before you return to the Olivine Lighthouse with the Secret Potion. On the other hand, there's a lot to see and discover in this area (especially if you're playing the Gold version!), so you might as well enjoy it.

Items

1. Sharp Beak
(only on Monday)

On Monday, you can find Monica of Monday wandering the shores of the Olivine City side of Route 40. Talk to her and she'll give you a Sharp Beak. This token strengthens the Flying-type moves of the Pokémon that holds it. It makes a great present for the Pokémon you use to do all your Flying.

If you use the Rock Smash move on the boulders on the Olivine City and Cianwood City shores of routes 40 and 41, you may disturb a Shuckle. These tortoise-like Pokémon are new to the Pokémon family and treasured additions to any PokéDex. If you smash all the rocks and find nothing, just leave the area. When you return, you'll find new boulders to destroy.

In the middle of Routes 40 and 41 you'll find the mysterious Whirl Islands. Whirlpools and walls of coral block the cave openings here. Until you get HMo6 (Whirlpool), you can only imagine what kinds of treasure they hold.

Whirl Islands

The Whirl Islands are a mysterious group of caverns heavily protected by coral reefs and whirlpools. To enter the caves, you must have HM06 (Whirlpool), the Glacier Badge, and a Pokémon capable of learning the move. The Whirl Islands are also home to the Legendary Bird Lugia, who dwells deep within the caves. With the right item, you can lure this one-of-a-kind Pokémon back to its roost!

Lugia's Chamber

Looking for Lugia? Here's the correct (and only) entrance and ladder to use to reach Lugia's chamber on Floor B4. You can reach its room whether you have the Silver Wing or not, but Lugia appears only if you have the Silver Wing in your possession. How to proceed is up to you.

Once you enter this room with Silver Wing in hand, you'll find Lugia hovering over the water deep inside. Save your game and hope you have enough Poké Balls to catch this precious Pokémon!

If you played Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow and attempted to catch any of the Legendary Birds in those games, you have a pretty good idea of how to approach this battle: stock up on Poké Balls before you enter the Tower. You can use the Master Ball you get from Prof. Elm, if you like, or any of the regular ones. Great Balls are less expensive than Ultra Balls and seem to work just as well. The catch is you need about 50 of them and a few Pokémon at or above Lugia's level who have moves that cause Sleep and Paralysis and that can reduce Accuracy.

Expect this to be a long battle, unless you get really lucky. Lugia will heal itself whenever necessary. Lugia's other moves, along with its level, depend on the version of the game you're playing. If you're playing Silver, Lugia is L40; if you're playing Gold, Lugia is L70.

Start the battle casting a move such as Flash to reduce Lugia's Accuracy. Cast it again and again, until the casting Pokémon faints or the move no longer has any effect. This helps neutralize Lugia's powerful attacks by making them miss at least as often as they hit. The failure of these attacks helps increase your own Pokémon's life span. Once you've destroyed Lugia's Accuracy, start putting it to Sleep, or Paralyze it, and begin chipping away at its HP. You must hobble Lugia without overdoing it, so don't use attacks that are super-effective against Water or Psychic Pokémon or a Pokémon that's 20–30 levels higher than Lugia. When you get Lugia's HP Gauge down to a tiny sliver, start chucking Poké Balls at it—and keep your fingers crossed.

Cianwood City

Cianwood City sits on the shore of a rocky peninsula, across the water from Olivine City. If you schedule things well, you can ensure that your swim across is the only one you'll have to make. Because Cianwood City is where you'll find both HM02 (Fly) and the Storm Badge you need to activate it outside battle, it should be no problem for you to arrange a flight back to the mainland!

Visit the photographer who lives in this house and have a memorial picture taken of your favorite Pokémon. (This feature only works if you have your Game Boy hooked up to your Game Boy Printer!)

In the Pokémon Center, you'll learn about the town Pokémaniac and his obnoxious affection for his prized Pokémon. When you talk to him, you learn he's already had another visitor—your Rival. Concerned for the safety of his last remaining Pokémon, he asks you to take care of it for him. If you have room in your party, he'll give you his Shuckle. The Pokémaniac's Shuckle is quite talented and can turn Berries into Berry Juice. Just give this Pokémon a Berry and check back after a while!

After you talk to Jasmine at the top of Olivine Lighthouse, the pharmacist in this simple Pharmacy sets aside his usual sales technique to offer you an amazing Secret Potion. It's just what Jasmine needs to cure the sick Lighthouse Pokémon, Ampharos.

The Cianwood City Gym celebrates the prowess of Fighting-type Pokémon. If you don't have the right Pokémon in your party, you may be in trouble. But Pokémon compatibility is the least of your worries. To reach Chuck the Gym Leader, you'll need HM04 (Strength) to move the large boulders out of your way.

You can find Chuck's wife wandering outside the Gym. If you beat her husband, she'll give you HM02 (Fly) so you can avoid taking the long route home.

You'll need a Pokémon with Strength to clear this Gym!

Gym Leader Battle: Chuck of the Cianwood City Gym

The first two Trainers in the Gym hit you with a one-two punch. The first uses his Hitmonlee; the second goes with a Hitmonchan. If you survive their assault, you're home free—and that includes the battle with Chuck. If you've been training a Psychic Pokémon (Abra, Drowzee, or even an Espeon) since Ecruteak City, you'll have no problem defeating these finely tuned fighters!

Chuck's two Pokémon are an odd couple. Primeape is pretty easy to take out, but Poliwrath has an interesting combo move you should look out for. Poliwrath comes equipped with two new moves—Mind Reader and Dynamicpunch. Dynamicpunch is a strong attack with a low Accuracy rating; it's successful only about 50 percent of the time.

When Dynamicpunch does connect, the opponent Pokémon takes damage and becomes Confused. To counteract the hit-or-miss nature of Dynamicpunch, Poliwrath can and will cast Mind Reader. This move guarantees that the next attack succeeds, regardless of that move's Accuracy. If you see Poliwrath cast Mind Reader, you know which move will follow. Fortunately, Poliwrath is also a Water-type Pokémon and vulnerable even to the usually helpless Bayleef/Meganium.

Route 42 is a great place to put your Headbutting moves to the test. After all, this route is one of the premiere locations for the Mountain Trees that are home to Heracross and Aipom. Heracross

If you're searching for a Heracross and haven't found the right tree to Headbutt, welcome to a route full of them. Combine your search for this Bug/Fighting Pokémon with an Apricorn-collecting trip. This tiny alcove across from the third entrance to Mt. Mortar has trees bearing both new Apricorns and the elusive Heracross. Check it out!

Mt. Mortar

Mt. Mortar is a large mountain cave that stretches the length of Route 42. It has three entrances, which can make life a little confusing if you're heading into the cave with a single purpose. Before you set off on any major expeditions, check the maps and make sure the entrance you choose is the one you really want. The high rate of encounter with the Wild Pokémon here makes errors in navigation costly indeed!

Floors 1F-2F

Floor 1F (Inside)

Mt. Mortar is home to a well-hyped blue mouse named Marill. This Pokémon appears very rarely. In fact, you may need someone to alert you when they come in season. Check with the Trainers on Route 45, south of Blackthorn City, and take down their phone numbers. You may get a special phone call one day!

Floor 2F (Inside)

Karate King Kiyo, Leader of the Fighting Dojo in Saffron City, is training on the bottom floor of Mt. Mortar. If you decide to train and challenge him, use the center entrance, which offers access to the water. To reach Karate King Kiyo, you must swim up the waterfall (you must have HM07 (Waterfall) to attempt this!) to the ladder at Point F, and then take the long way down to Floor B1.

NOTE

Remember! Other Pokémon may be found in the waters and tunnels of Mt. Mortar 1F-2F!

Karate King Kiyo hails from Saffron City in Kanto and is Leader of the Fighting Dojo. If you've played Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow, you'll recall that the Fighting Dojo was once a part of the Saffron City Gym. You'll also remember that the Fighting Dojo was where you chose between getting a Hitmonlee or a Hitmonchan. It should come as no surprise, then, that if you beat Karate King in a Pokémon battle, you'll get a Fighting-type Pokémon. No, it's not Hitmontop! It's more like a pre-evolved form of all three....

Intrigued? Then make sure you have an empty spot in your Pokémon belt before you take on Karate King Kiyo; otherwise, you'll make a long trip back after your victory to claim your prize!

Mahogany Town

Mahogany Town is a quiet, out-of-the-way village nestled in the mountainous regions of Johto. It's home to the Glacier Badge and offers direct passage to the Lake of Rage. Unfortunately, Mahogany Town also seems to be under the influence of Team Rocket and most of the town's usual operations have been suspended. Talk to anyone: they'll recommend you head up to the Lake of Rage first to find the source of the problem!

The Pokémon Mart in Mahogany Town can't decide which goods to carry. Perhaps that has something to do with the current management? Until you solve the problems at the Lake of Rage, you'll have to go elsewhere to find real merchandise. After you run Team Rocket out of town (they hide out in a shop basement!), a kindly old woman will take over the shop and offer a more appropriate line of goods.

There's nothing worse than a pushy salesman! This man won't get out of your way until you get the Glacier Badge—no matter how many Ragecandybars you buy from him! Save your money and be patient!

The Gym in Mahogany Town is famous for its Ice Pokémon. They've even duplicated their icy habitat in the Gym itself. Once you take care of Team Rocket, you'll see for yourself how much fun snow and ice can be! Until then, the door is blocked and you can't enter.

Goldenrod City is under siege! You've got to do your part to save the City and the Radio Tower!

NOTE

After you get the Glacier Badge, expect a disturbing call from Prof. Elm: Team Rocket has taken their knowledge of radio transmission to Goldenrod City and taken over the Radio Tower. They aren't using it to harm any Pokémon yet, but they're frantically trying to contact their missing leader, Giovanni. Head over to Goldenrod City as soon as you can to put an end to Team Rocket once and for all. The last thing anyone needs is for Giovanni to return!

Gym Leader Battle:

Pryce of the Mahogany Town Gym

You're unlikely to have run into many Ice Pokémon until now, so you have a lot to learn in a short period of time. Ice Pokémon, on the whole, are strong against other Ice attacks and weak against Fire, Fighting, Rock, and Steel types. The problem is there are no pure Ice Pokémon in the game; they're all Ice hybrids. Usually, you'll find Ice combined with Water, in the case of Cloyster and Dewgong, which negates the super-effective status of those Fire attacks. You'll also see Ice combined with Flying (as with Articuno) or with the Psychic powers (as with Jynx), negating the super-effectiveness of Fighting-type moves. In this Gym you'll also find a new Ice hybrid that mixes Ice with Ground—the mammoth-like Swinub and Piloswine. This combination negates the extra power of Rock-type moves.

So how should you proceed in this battle? A good Electric Pokémon or Electric-Water mix should be able to take on all Pryce's Pokémon with good effect, as long as the Pokémon is of the same level as Pryce's. Electric moves work well against the Seel and Dewgong; Water moves should drown out Pryce's Piloswine. The other factor in your favor is sheer strength. Look at the levels of Pryce's Pokémon compared to Jasmine's at the Olivine City Gym: Jasmine's Pokémon were not only better protected, but they were of a higher level. If you could beat them, Pryce's Pokémon should present no problem.

Team Rocket's Hideout

They're back! Team Rocket has chosen yet another subterranean location as their hideout and it's up to you (with Lance's help) to put an end to their latest diabolical plan! As you know, they're using this hideout, conveniently located beneath the Mahogany Town Pokémon Mart, to transmit a high-frequency sound that's driving the Gyarados at the Lake of Rage absolutely mad. The hideout is pretty well guarded, but Team Rocket members will tell all once you defeat them. Be sure to talk to each one after a battle to get tips and hints on how to shut down their hideout!

Floor B1

Team Rocket has Surveillance Cameras everywhere; they're concealed in the Pokémon Statues! Whenever you step in front of one, two Team Rocket Grunts will rush up and attack you. This gets kind of annoying after a while, so look for ways to avoid being seen until you can turn the cameras off!

If the Surveillance Cameras aren't enough, Team Rocket has also laid floor traps. Whenever you step into the striped area, you'll be thrust into a battle with a Geodude, Koffing, or Voltorb confined there. Again, these battles can become annoying after a while, so search for an alternative path through the hideout!

A computer controls the switch to turn off the Surveillance Cameras. Merely examine the computer near Scientist Jed. Once you've deactivated the cameras, you can wander around pretty freely. There's no way to turn off the floor traps, though.

On the second floor of the hideout, talk to Lance to heal your Pokémon. You'll want them to be fighting fit for the task to come!

Your next challenge is to learn the two passwords that open the hideout's locked doors. If a Team Rocket Grunt knows anything, you'll find out once you've beaten him or her in battle. Keep that in mind as you pick fights with the two Grunts on this level.

After you get the two passwords (Slowpoketail and Raticate Tail), head to the Boss's Office on Floor B3. Before you get there, you'll get to check with your Rival again. This time he insists he'll defeat Team Rocket before you, but he's also distracted by his recent loss to your friend, Lance. Regardless, he doesn't feel like battling you again, so you're off the hook for a while longer! This is good, because you must take on a Team Rocket Executive inside the office and you need your strength!. Afterward the Murkrow will tell you the remaining password to the Machine Room.

The final step in dismantling Team Rocket's hideout is the Machine Room itself. Before you can touch the machinery, though, you must take on the last of the Team Rocket Executives. (Lance handles the one that ambushes you.) You must then make the ultimate sacrifice. Six Electrode power the machine transmitting that horrible sound. You must defeat the three on your side to shut down the machine and save the day. When you succeed, Lance gives you HMo6 (Waterfall) as a reward!

Route 43

Route 43 is a heavily forested path that leads from Mahogany Town to the Lake of Rage. Normally, it's a peaceful little road, but Team Rocket's presence is stirring things up and making life uncomfortable for humans and Pokémon alike.

Items

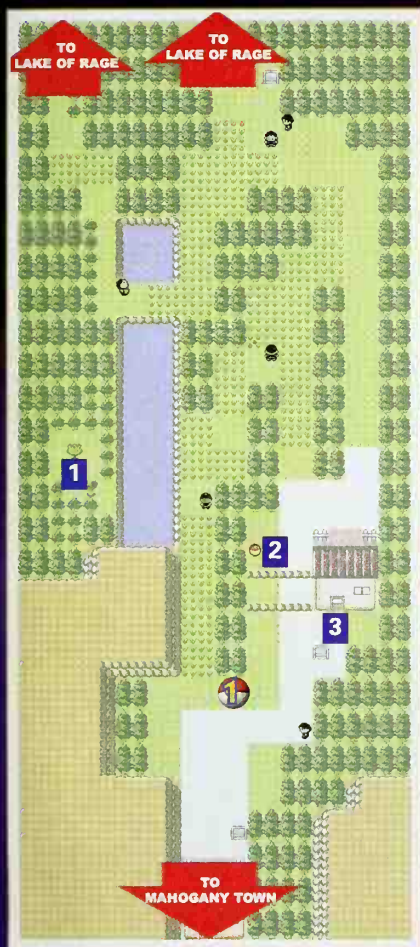

1. Bitter Berry
2. Max Ether
3. TM36 (Sludge Bomb)

To get rid of the toll, you must get rid of Team Rocket. Don't worry, the answer to this problem will come shortly!

There are two ways to travel north on Route 43. You can travel through the grass and risk a random battle or two, or you can go through the gatehouse. Normally this wouldn't be a bad idea, but Team Rocket has taken over the gatehouse and is charging a fee of P1000 to pass through. If you find yourself making a lot of trips between Mahogany Town and the Lake of Rage, that fee will really add up! The only way to get rid of the fee is to get rid of Team Rocket. Once you do, the gatehouse attendant will give you TM36 (Sludge Bomb) as a memento.

Lake of Rage

It's said the Lake of Rage was created the last time the Gyarados got together and stirred up a storm. The crater that remained filled with rainwater and became the Lake of Rage. Now it's a pleasant fishing spot filled with Magikarp and the occasional Gyarados—at least it was until the strange noise caused the Gyarados to get mad all over again.

In the Lake of Rage, the Gyarados are on the rampage and no one knows why. To top things off, a red Gyarados has appeared in the middle of the lake, but everyone knows that Gyarados are blue! If you could capture that Gyarados, you'd have not only an usual addition to your collection, but you might find out something about the outbreak of anger.

Colored Pokémon such as the Red Gyarados pop up once in a while in Pokémon Gold and Silver. You'll know you've found one by the swirl of stars around it when it first appears on the Battle screen. And when you encounter one, you can't escape from battle until you defeat or capture it. Colored Pokémon make a neat addition to any collection!

After you defeat the Red Gyarados, you'll get the Red Scale. This item causes Lance, a curious Pokémon Trainer, to appear by the lake sign. Talk to Lance and he'll share his suspicions about the Lake's Gyarados situation and ask you to help him. Agree, and he'll meet you back at the Pokémon Mart in Mahogany Town.

TIP

Take the Red Scale to Mr. Pokémon's house and trade it for the Exp. Share item. Exp. Share is a re-tooled version of Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow's Exp. All item. When you attach this to a Pokémon in your active party, it automatically receives half of the experience points earned in any battle. You no longer have to use the bait-and-switch method to level up low-level Pokémon!

You can win this contest. It just takes time and luck!

Left of the Lake lies a forest maze you can reach only from a path on Route 43. Hidden among the trees and dead ends, you'll find a small hut where you can get TM10 (Hidden Power). This move differs for every Pokémon who uses it because it draws on that Pokémon's hidden strengths and powers. Sounds cool!

Every Wednesday you can find Wesley of Wednesday who gives out Black Belts as souvenirs. This item, when attached to a Pokémon, increases the power of its Fighting-type moves.

After you defeat Team Rocket in their underground hideout, things at the Lake of Rage return to normal. The Fishermen come back (with new opportunities for Pokémon Battles) and the Fishing Guru starts up his Magikarp Contest. Take the Fishing Guru any Magikarp you've caught and he'll measure it. If it's bigger than the current record (recorded on the sign outside his house), you win an Ether item as a prize. The Super Rod seems to be the key to winning this contest—bait and unlimited patience.

This icy cave is full of surprises and mind-boggling puzzles. The Ice patches on the first floor are sure to keep you sliding around for hours as you try to figure out which rock to use as a hand-hold. Ice Path

The Ice Path contains the most challenging caves to get through. Much like the Gym in Mahogany Town, the Ice Path is full of sheets of slippery ice, punctuated with the odd boulder or patch of sand so that you can regain your balance. This first puzzle is the hardest in the cave to get through. You have to slide from boulder to boulder until you find the one that lines you up with the exit. If you get stuck on this or any of the puzzles in this dungeon, all you have to do is turn to the Sealed Section in the back of the book!

On Floor B1, your goal is to push the boulders through the holes in the floor to the level below. If you should end up falling through the ice before you complete this task, you'll quickly understand why the boulders are needed. The catch here is that you have to figure out which boulders go in which holes and then determine the best path to get them there. If you make a mistake and need to reset the puzzle, just go up or down a floor. And if you get completely stuck, there's always the solution in the Sealed Section!

HM07 (Waterfall) is one of the items you can pick up in the Ice Path. However, getting this important Hidden Machine requires you to solve yet another ice puzzle. This one is a little easier than the large ice field you just got through!

The Boulders from the floor above form the bolsters you need to pinball yourself across the ice and onto the dirt in the middle of the level, where the next ladder is. If you end up on this floor before all of the boulders are in place, just slide back to the ladder at Point B and climb back up to Floor B1.

NOTE

You can enter the Ice Path any time after you've collected the Glacier Badge in Mahogany Town. You do not have to complete the Team Rocket event in Goldenrod City first.

NOTE

Don't forget! Other Pokémon may be found in the icy tunnels of the Ice Path!

Gym Leader Battle: Clair of the Blackthorn City Gym

If you attempt to enter the Gym before you complete the Team Rocket event in Goldenrod City, you'll find that Clair, the Gym Leader, is training in the Dragon's Den and won't return until the Radio Tower is free.

This old man guards the Dragon's Den entrance, the most challenging place for anyone learning about Dragon-type Pokémon. You can't enter the Dragon's Den unless you have permission from Gym Leader Clair herself. No exceptions!

Does your favorite Pokémon know a move you just can't get rid of? Take it to the Moves Deleter and he'll help your Pokémon forget. Visit him when you want a Pokémon to forget a HM or when you need a Pokémon to forget a moves that didn't appear in Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow so you can use the Time Capsule!

The girl in the house nearest the Ice Path is looking for a female Dragonair. If you can find one, she'll trade you her Rhydon for it!

On Saturdays you can meet Santos of Saturday on the bluffs of this quiet mountain retreat. Santos has the Spell Tag token, which strengthens the Ghost-type moves of any Pokémon you attach it to. Scary, isn't it?

Prizes

Raging Badge: Allows you to use HM07 (Waterfall) outside of battle and makes all Pokémon obey you, regardless of level.

TM24 (Dragonbreath): Has a normal attack with an added 30% chance of Paralyzing your opponent.

The Blackthorn City Gym is a two-story monstrosity that requires strength as well as cunning to clear. You need a Pokémon with the Strength move to push the boulders through holes in the first floor down to the floor below. This creates bridges over the lava there so that eventually you can reach and challenge Gym Leader Clair.

If you haven't spent much time around Dragon Pokémon, this Gym may come as a shock to you. Dragon Pokémon are weak against only two types of attacks—Ice and Dragon. Their weakness to Dragon moves makes bringing another Dragon into battle a bad idea, but it does open the possibility of using other Pokémon types who can use Dragon-type moves. Gyarados is a good example of what I'm talking about, because defensively it won't be particularly weak or strong against any attack used (except Thunderbolt), but offensively should be able to use moves such as Dragon's Rage and Twister (depending on level) to great advantage.

Of course, the best Pokémon to bring into the battle is an Ice Pokémon, and the best one in the area is a Jynx from the Ice Path. If you pick one up in the Ice Path before you head back to Goldenrod City to oust Team Rocket, you'll have plenty of time and opportunity to level it up and prepare it for battle. Ice Punch, Powder Snow, and Lovely Kiss are an effective group of moves against Clair's Dragons.

Routes 26 and 27

Routes 26 and 27 mark your entrance to the Kanto region and Indigo Plateau. The gatehouse at the north end of Route 26 is the Pokémon League Reception Gate. This is the gateway to Kanto proper (Route 22), Victory Road, Route 28, and Mt. Silver, where only the coolest Pokémon Masters train. Clair of the Blackthorn City Gym considers this the hardest route yet, and she's right! There are twelve Trainers here and only one place to rest and heal your Pokémon (about two-thirds of the way to the gate). If you need healing before then, you must travel back to New Bark Town (by foot and fin)!

The woman in this house will give you TM37 (Sandstorm) if you can show her a Pokémon that has bonded with you. Put that Pokémon in the front of your party, and then talk to her. If you don't have a friendly Pokémon in your party, you won't get a thing!

This home, hidden deep in the forest, is home to the seven "Days of the Week" kids. If you read the note on the table, you'll discover where they are, what they do, and why they do it!

If you need some rest, or if your Pokémon need healing, stop by this house. The woman who lives there will let you sleep at her house for a while. After eight Trainer Battles, it's a good idea to give everyone a break. Consider returning here after you clear the route, before you enter Victory Road.

The Pokémon League Reception Gate serves as the entrance to a variety of places. During your first trip to Indigo Plateau, you can pass through only to Victory Road. The hall to Route 22 and Viridian City opens once you pass through from the other side (that is, once you enter the Pokémon League Reception Gate from Route 22). To access the final hall, to Route 28 and Mt. Silver, you first must complete the Kanto Pokémon Gym Challenge, and then get permission to enter from Prof. Oak in Pallet Town. Admission to Mt. Silver is one of the highest honors bestowed on a Pokémon Trainer!

Victory Road

Victory Road has slimmed down over the last three years and is much easier to navigate than before. Gone are the Boulder Puzzles and the fiery Moltres. Instead you'll find the path through these three floors quick and easy. Check around for any Pokémon you might have missed before and save your game just before you reach the exit! Trust us on this!

Floor 1F

To reach TM26 (Earthquake), you must drop through this hole on Floor 3F. Earthquake is a powerful and accurate move—be sure to pick it up before you take on the Elite Four!

Rival Battle #5

This time your Rival surprises you before you get to Indigo Plateau! Because he can't believe you're strong enough to take on the Elite Four, he wants to test you first. Your Rival's party is now complete and in its final form. When you meet him later on in the game, his Pokémon will be stronger, but their tactics will remain the same.

Think of this battle as a true test of your preparedness for the Elite Four. Your Rival's six Pokémon are strong and varied. Kadabra is the newest addition and it can be a force to reckon with. If you have Pokémon with Ghost, Bug, or Dark attacks, use them against Kadabra. Bite is a common Dark move that's extremely effective against Psychic-type Pokémon. The fact that it carries a 30 percent chance of making the opponent flinch makes it even nicer in battle. The remaining Pokémon are old favorites; use the same tactics you used successfully in previous battles.

Indigo Plateau

Indigo Plateau, headquarters for the Pokémon League, is where young Trainers come to test their skill(s) against the Elite Four and the latest Champion. As the sign outside says, this is a Trainer's ultimate goal. To enter, you must have all eight badges from either the Kanto or the Johto Regions and even then, that won't guarantee that you're ready for the challenges that await.

Indigo Plateau (Outside)

Feel a pressing urge to return home and train some more? Talk to this gentleman and he'll arrange to have his Abra teleport you home in a jiffy.

Before you take on the Elite Four, stock up on supplies at the Pokémon Mart counter. The Indigo Plateau store has the largest supply of potions and remedies in either region. If you're looking for the strongest potions you can buy, come here. Make sure you take enough Revives, Full Heals, Hyper Potions, Full Restores, and the like to get you through the next five battles. You won't be able to return to the Pokémon Center or the Pokémon Mart, while you're in the Elite Four Chambers, so prepare now.

Indigo Plateau (Inside)

After you defeat your Rival for the last time at Mt. Moon, re-challenge him here at the steps to the Elite Four every Monday and Wednesday. Expect more of the same: his Pokémon lineup doesn't change, just their levels. Use these battles when you need a challenge, more experience points, or money!

Remember, this event takes place only on Mondays and Wednesdays—and only after you defeat your Rival at Mt. Moon in the Kanto region!

Facing the Elite Four: Preparation

As in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow, your success against the Elite Four is determined by what you've put into the game. It's just as possible to defeat the Elite Four with a well-balanced group of L30 to L40 Pokémon as it is with a couple of L50+ Pokémon. The strategies you employ depend largely on the team you assemble for this event.

And now a few words in favor of a well-balanced team: The opposing Pokémon come in a wide variety of type, strength, and power. Will, the first of the Elite Four, favors Psychic-type Pokémon; Karen, the fourth of the four, likes Dark Pokémon. Koga favors Poison and Bug types, and Bruno relies on Fighting-type Pokémon. Within each Trainer's favorite category, you'll find even more variation. Karen's Dark Pokémon range from the all-Dark Umbreon to the Dark-Flying Murkrow and the Dark-Fire Houndoom.

As you challenge each Trainer, you may find that one Pokémon works well against half your opponent's team, but not as good against the rest. A well-balanced team allows you to adjust your tactics to suit the situation. And because you can match strengths against weaknesses, it also allows you to use a Pokémon that is a few levels lower than your opponent's. It's a good idea to have representatives of all major Pokémon types in your active party, ready to go. What follows are some recommendations.

Name	Type
Typlosion	Fire
Feraligatr	Water
Ampharos	Electric
Ho-oh	Fire-Flying
Lugia	Psychic-Flying
Espeon	Psychic
Umbreon	Dark
Jynx	Ice-Psychic
Graveler	Rock-Ground
Machoke	Fighting
Lapras	Ice-Water
Magnetron	Electric-Steel

Before you walk up the stairs and begin your first battle, check your inventory and make sure you have enough Hyper Potions, Full Heals, and Revives to get you through each of the five battles ahead. If money is no object, 10 Full Restores is a purchase that won't go to waste. Full Restore heals both HP and Status Anomalies, saving you the loss of an extra battle round. If you depend on the attacks of one or two Pokémon, take along any Ethers or Elixirs you may have found on your journeys so you can recover the PP of favorite attacks.

Next, check to see which items (if any) you have attached to your Pokémon. Ideally, you'll give your Pokémon items to help them in the battles ahead. If you haven't been using Pokémon tokens, now is a good time to start. Give Charcoal to your main Fire Pokémon, Mystic Water to your Water Pokémon, and so on. If in doubt, use Quick Claw to increase your Pokémon's chances of attacking first or Amulet Coin to increase your winnings at the end of each round. Finally, save your game!

Elite Four Battle: Will

Will of the Elite Four battles mostly with Psychic hybrid-type Pokémon. This makes it easy to attack each Pokémon's secondary type if you don't have a Pokémon that can take out a Psychic type easily. Use Fire against Exeggutor and Jynx, and Electric against the two Xatu and Slowbro. It's easy to foil Psychic Pokémon with Bug, Ghost, and Dark moves, so use 'em if you have 'em.

On the defensive side, the Psychic move that Will's Pokémon have in common does the most damage to Fighting- and Poison-type Pokémon and the least to Psychic and Steel Pokémon. Psychic moves have no effect on Dark Pokémon. Keep in mind, however, that if you put a Dark Pokémon such as Umbreon, or anything Psychic is weak against, into battle, Will's Pokémon will likely resort to their other moves.

TIP

Looking for an ultimate Pokémon to take against the Elite Four? How about a Psychic Pokémon with both Psychic and Dark moves? It can't be done, you say? Take the Eevee that Bill gives you when you meet up with him at his family's house in Goldenrod City and level it up to L30. At that point it learns the move Bite, a Dark attack that carries with it a 30 percent chance of Flinch. Then do everything you can think of to make it love and trust you (feeding it tons of HP UP, Carbos, Iron, and the like is an expensive-but-quick way to achieve this) before the Pokémon levels up to L36. The catch is that you must do all this during the daytime, so your Eevee will turn into an Espeon. And you must evolve your Eevee before it reaches L36 so it learns the Psychic attack Psybeam. Espeon that Bite can take out most of the Pokémon that the first three of the Elite Four put in front of it!

Elite Four Battle: Koga

Three years ago, Koga ran the Gym in Fuchsia City using Bug and Poison Pokémon, much as he does now. But the Pokémon he uses today are newer and maybe stronger. The key to this battle is to use Psychic moves on the Poison-types and Fire on the Bugs. Strike opponent Pokémon hard and heavy to prevent them from Confusing or Poisoning your Pokémon. If your Pokémon do end up Poisoned or Confused, think hard before wasting a turn to heal them. With the right Pokémon, this will be a quick battle and you can heal them after it ends and before the next one begins.

Elite Four Battle: Bruno

Fighting Bruno is like taking on all of the Cianwood City Gym at once. Bruno's entire force, except one, is comprised of pure Fighting Pokémon. These are easy to defeat with Psychic or Flying Pokémon. For the Onix, switch to your favorite Water or Grass Pokémon.

Because of the damage the opposing Pokémon can inflict, you'll want to match strengths and weaknesses defensively. In other words, don't put Jynx on the front line to take care of Hitmonlee. One Hi Jump Kick will wipe her out (because Fighting moves are strong against Ice Pokémon)!

Elite Four Battle: Karen

Karen's Dark Pokémon should be the first bunch that sends you scrambling for reinforcements. No one Pokémon will fare extremely well against all her Pokémon, so expect to handle each individually. For Umbreon, consider using a Fighting Pokémon, because they remain strong against Umbreon's Dark attacks while dishing out twice the damage. A Fighting Pokémon also will do well against Houndoom, as will a Water Pokémon. You can easily use Psychic Pokémon against Vileplume and Gengar, but Murkrow is tricky.

Both Fighting and Bug attacks are worthless against Murkrow because of its dual nature. Instead, focus on the Flying side of Murkrow and attack it with Electric attacks.

And don't worry if you find yourself struggling in this battle. Of the Elite Four, Karen is the hardest to defeat. Unfortunately, the Champion is even harder!

Elite Four Battle: Lance

On the surface, this seems like it should be an easy battle. After all, every Pokémon is a Flying-type. But look closer: they also share Hyper Beam. Many consider this the ultimate Pokémon skill. It is extremely strong and powerful. The good news, however, is that it causes the casting Pokémon to lose its next attack round. If your Pokémon can survive a blast, they have a chance to strike back hard while their opponent is resting.

Strategies for this battle resemble those you used to defeat Clair in the Blackthorn City Gym. Use Ice against the Dragonite, or the Dragon-type moves of a non-Dragon Pokémon. For the rest, use strong Electric-type attacks.

Use Cut to reach the entrance of the Vermilion City Gym. You'll find the traps there already tripped and you can go right into Lt. Surge's office. The Vermilion City Gym honors Electric-type Pokémon, so dust off your Ground Pokémon. Trainers and Gym Leaders are stronger here, so prepare, and check the Trainer Information table. After you defeat Lt. Surge (and after defeating the Elite Four, you should be able to defeat anyone!), you get the Thunder Badge and a boost of Speed for all your Pokémon.

Route 8

The group of Bikers (called the Kanto Pokémon Federation) may have something to do with the closing of the east-west underground passage. You'll have to fight them eventually (especially if you decide to walk from Lavender Town to Saffron City), so get it over with now. Route 8 is the only place where you can catch Kadabra and Haunter in the wild, so be sure to pick up one of each while you're here.

NOTE

The underground passage between Lavender Town and Celadon City is closed permanently due to the fights that were taking place there.

Lavender Town

Over the past three years, Pokémon Tower contents have been moved to smaller quarters and a Radio Station has taken over the tower building. Other than that, not much has changed. Mr. Fuji still helps out Pokémon in need, and the Name Rater can still help you with those bad name choices!

The Soul House contains the graves of beloved

Pokémon who have passed on. Mr. Fuji is curator and asks that you pay your respects to the departed souls of the Pokémon buried there. For those familiar with Lavender Town from Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow, the Soul House is the new location of Pokémon Tower.

Visit the Name Rater if you must change your Pokémon's names. You may change only the names of Pokémon you've caught yourself. You can't change those you traded from friends or others in the game!

The Radio Tower in Lavender Town is a new addition to the Kanto region, but it's offline while the Power Plant has generator problems. After the problem is fixed, talk to the Music Director and he'll give you a free Expn. Card so you can tune in to Kanto's radio broadcasts.

Cerulean City is another town that's changed over the last three years. The Bicycle Shop has moved to Goldenrod City and the burgled Dig-fanatics have opened a Police Station. The Berserk Gene is a one-use-only Item. When attached to a Pokémon, it doubles Attack Strength but makes the Pokémon Confused. When the battle ends, the item disappears. To make it last forever, use it in Game Link battles only!

The Thief who took the Machine Part is somewhere in Cerulean City, and you must find him! Check everywhere—the Pokémon Center, the Pokémon Mart, and the Gym! When you find him at the Cerulean City Gym, don't expect him to hang around. Instead, he runs off to the bridge on Route 24, where you can capture and question him. After he tells you where he hid the Machine Part, return to the Gym and search to find it in the upper-left corner of the little square of water in the middle of the docks.

After you talk to this boy, pull out your ItemFinder and your swimsuit and start looking for an important Item. You must swim in the channel opposite the boy to find this nifty Pokémon token.

Cerulean City Gym is home to some of the strongest Water Pokémon-based Trainers in the world! Misty, the Gym Leader, is renowned for her power and spunk. Unfortunately, she's out on a date right now at the Cerulean Cape on Route 25. To battle her, interrupt and persuade her to return to the Gym. When you return, it's business as usual and time to fight. Use Electric and Grass attacks to quell the attacks of these watery opponents. When you win, you get the Cascadebadge.

Muk and Grimer pollute the pond in Celadon City! If you need to add one or the other to your PokéDex, now's your chance!

Three years ago, the Game Corner in Celadon City was a front for Team Rocket. The townspeople haven't forgotten that, and you're welcome to check behind any poster in the Game Corner to make sure all the secret passages are gone. This Game Corner has the same machines as the one in Goldenrod City, but the prizes you exchange your Coins for are a little different.

There is a contest in progress in this Restaurant. You can't join in and the staff is too busy to serve you, but check the wastebaskets for Leftovers! Attach the Leftovers Item to a Pokémon and it heals that character a little at a time during battles.

The Celadon City Gym is hidden away in the south west corner of town. You'll have to use Cut on a sapling to reach the entrance, so make sure someone in your party has this move. Erika and her Trainers are experts in Grass- and Poison-type Pokémon, as the Trainer Information table shows. Janine, the Poisonous Ninja Master, has taken over her father's position as the Gym Leader of the Fuchsia City Gym. Koga, as you might remember, is now one of the Elite Four! Janine has made her Trainers masters of disguise. In fact, they can disguise themselves to look just like Janine! This makes finding her in the Gym a difficult task.

And Koga's invisible walls (see the Sealed Section to find out where they are) make avoiding the other Trainers doubly difficult.

Much like her father, Janine is an expert on Poison-type Pokémon. This makes your life a little easier, because the same tactics you used to defeat her father, Koga, will work against her, too. You need Fire-, Earth-, and Psychic-type attacks to wipe out the Grass and Poison hybrid Pokémon that fill this Gym! Defeat Janine to win the Soulbadge and TM06 (Toxic).

Pewter City

When you enter Pewter City, you notice right away that the Museum of Science is closed for renovations. Other than that, little has changed in three years. Talk to all the townspeople, because you can find an important Item here!

A gentleman in the Pokémon Center wants to trade his Rapidash for a Gloom. If you have one to spare, trade with him.

The gentleman near the Route 3 exit has a tremendously exciting Item in his possession. If you tell him you're from Johto, he'll reminisce about his boyhood journey there and the Item he found. If you're playing the Gold version of the game, you get the Silver Wing. If you're playing the Silver version, you'll get the Rainbow Wing. Now the next time you're in Johto you can get the other Legendary Bird!

Brock still runs the Gym in Pewter City and, yes, Rock- and Earth-type Pokémon are still his favorites. This is a simple Gym with a single Trainer to warm you up for your battle with Brock. As you can see from the foregoing Trainer Information table, his Pokémon lineup now includes two Ancient Pokémon (discovered in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow). To counter, use Pokémon strong in Grass and Water moves. You can even use Electric attacks against the Rock/Water hybrids Omastar and Kabutops. When you defeat Brock, you win the Boulderbadge, which makes your Pokémon more powerful.

Mt. Moon

The Clefairy still play on Mt. Moon, even if it doesn't look quite the same as it used to. When you enter the cave, your Rival confronts you. Head upstairs and talk to the owners of the small store there. It's open only during the day, so write it into your schedule. You will learn something interesting about the field next door.

Rival Battle #6

This is your final battle with your Rival. Are you ready? Not much has changed since your battle in Victory Road—except your Rival's attitude. Use the same tactics as before and you should come out the clear winner. Afterward, your Rival will take some time off to train in the Dragon's Den. You can visit him there every Tuesday and Thursday. On Mondays and Wednesdays, your Rival heads off to Indigo Plateau. Meet him there for another confrontation, if you dare.

It's time for the final

Viridian City

Viridian City is the crossroads of the western half of the Kanto region. To the south you'll find Pallet Town and Cinnabar Island; to the north lies Pewter Town and access to Mt. Moon; to the west you'll find the Pokémon League Reception Gate and access to Mt. Silver, Indigo Plateau, and Johto. While you're in town, check to see if Blue, the new Gym Leader, is in. Or take on a random Trainer in the Trainers' House.

Blue, the new Gym Leader of the Viridian City Gym, has a strange habit of wandering off to think about life. You can find him on Cinnabar Island, where you can persuade him to return to the Gym and battle you for the Earthbadge.

Blue is the hardest Kanto Gym Leader to beat. His Pokémon are in the mid- to upper 50s in level and run the gamut from Flying Pokémon to Water and Fire Pokémon: he has an extremely well-balanced team.

Use Water moves to take out Blue's Arcanine and Rhydon, Electric attacks to take out his Pidgeot and Gyarados, and Bug or Dark attacks to take out Alakazam and Exeggutor. This is a tough battle, but not very different from taking on the Elite Four or your own Rival. Survive and you get the Earthbadge—and everyone's approval!

If you need extra practice and a new challenge, visit the Trainer House, where you can battle some of the land's toughest Trainers—one per day. If you haven't used your Game Link to fight a friend or to trade Pokémon, you'll battle Cal, a Trainer with 150 versions of all three starting Pokémon. If you have used the Game Link, you'll battle a computer-generated version of your last Game Link partner.

Swim across the pool or cut down the sapling to encounter this sleepy guy. He keeps dreaming about a Drowzee that eats his dreams. When he wakes up, he finds TM42 (Dream Eater), and gives it to you!

Pallet Town

Pallet Town is where you'll find Prof. Oak and his Pokémon Research Lab. This tiny town is virtually identical to Johto's New Bark Town. You can find Red's mom waiting at home and Blue's sister sitting at her table next door. But Red has disappeared, and his Rival, Blue, is now Viridian City Gym Leader.

1 Blue's Sister, Daisy, is as courteous here as she was in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. Visit her on any day between 3 and 4 p.m., and she'll invite you to tea. While you relax, Daisy will groom one of your Pokémon. Grooming makes your Pokémon like you more, so visit Daisy often.

2 Prof. Oak's Pokémon Research Lab is renowned as the birthplace of the PokéDex. Check in with Prof. Oak after you collect all eight Kanto Gym Badges and he'll give you access to the last section of the Kanto region—Route 28 and Mt. Silver. Only the finest Pokémon Trainers may travel there, so you should feel honored!

Cinnabar Island

Cinnabar Island has undergone a transformation since an erupting volcano destroyed most of it. What once was a bustling city now is merely a Pokémon Center outpost. If you've come looking for the Cinnabar Island Gym, Blaine's moved it to a cavern on the Seafoam Islands.

Blue, Leader of the Viridian City Gym, often comes to Cinnabar Island to look at the wreckage and muse about the meaning of life. He's in no mood to battle you when you first approach him, but by the end of your conversation he's ready to rush back to his Gym. When you return to Viridian City, you'll find Blue waiting there.

Blue obviously remembers the beating he got at Red's hands!

NOTE

Be sure to check the various islands and areas for other Pokémon!

Routes 19, 20, and Seafoam Islands

Routes 19 and 20 still take you between Cinnabar Island and the mainland (at Fuchsia City). However, giant boulders tossed by the Cinnabar volcano now block the beach entrance to Fuchsia City. Workers toil to clear the debris, but there's no telling how long it will take them.

In other news, the Seafoam Islands are now home to the new Cinnabar Island Gym. To win the Volcanobadge, you must go there.

Items

1. Volcanobadge

Inside the (new) Cinnabar City Gym

The Seafoam Islands have been reduced to a single cavern over the last three years, and the small space suits Blaine just fine.

When you get to the Seafoam Islands, expect to fight Blaine by himself; the new Gym has no room for other Trainers! He uses three Fire-type Pokémon—Magmar, Rapidash, and a new one that will make your skin crawl. Following the Strengths and Weaknesses chart, your best bets are Water-, Ground-, and Rock-type attacks. When you defeat Blaine, you win the Volcanobadge. You should be pretty close to completing the Kanto Gym Challenge by now!

As you'd expect, the number and variety of moves have increased quite a bit since the days of Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. Moves break down into two types—Physical and Special. Their effectiveness depends on a Pokémon's Attack and Defense ratings (Physical moves) and Special Attack and Special Defense ratings (Special moves). Physical moves include Normal, Fighting, Flying, Ground, Rock, Bug, Ghost, Poison, and Steel varieties. Special Attacks include Fire, Water, Electric, Ice, Grass, Psychic, Dragon, and Dark.

With the expanded Backpack, you can store more items than you could in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow, and you can do so more efficiently. The following tables list all the items in the game, sorted by category.

Pack Items

Items in the categories Recovery and Miscellaneous, Pokémon Power-Ups, Berries, Apricorns, Stationery, and Pokémon Tokens are housed in the Items pocket of your Pack. These are general items you can purchase and use at will during your adventure.

Apricorns

You'll find Apricorns in the same trees as Berries. When you take an Apricorn to Kurt in Azalea Town, he'll hollow it out and turn it into a special Poké Ball. The color of the Apricorn you give determines the type of Poké Ball Kurt makes. It takes Kurt a full 24 hours to turn one into a special Poké Ball.

The sections that follow offer solutions to some of the game's trickier puzzles.

The Ruins of Alph

If you're looking at this section, you must want to see the puzzle solutions!

Tin Tower

The ramp mazes on floors 4F and 5F can be tough to get through without assistance.

Tin Tower: Floor 4F

Tin Tower: Floor 5F

Mt. Mortar

The pathway to Karate King Kiyo is long and confusing. Floor 2F is a maze that requires you to swim across ponds and make your way across terraced floors to the ladder at the top of the screen. This map shows you the way.

Mt. Mortar: Floor 2F

The Ice Path

Getting through the first couple of ice patch puzzles and the boulder puzzle on Floor B1 can be difficult. The solutions follow.

Solution to the Ice Patch Puzzles

Use the boulders to stop sliding and position yourself for the next slide. The first puzzle forces you to backtrack at one point to reposition yourself around the same boulder. You must do much the same thing (but in a smaller space) to reach the Poké Ball with HMo7 (Waterfall).

Ice Path: Floor 1F

Solution to the Boulder Puzzle

If you're unsure which boulders go in which holes, glance at the following maps.

Ice Path: Floor B1

Ice Path: Floor B2

Blackthorn City Gym

This boulder puzzle works much like the one in the Ice Path. You must push specific boulders through holes on the first floor to form bridges over the lava on the floor below.

Fuchsia City Gym

The Fuchsia City Gym is known for its invisible walls. We reveal their locations here to help you better plan your route.

The Evolution Stone Game

Bill's grandpa is very interested in the Pokémon his grandson tells him about. Grandpa can't leave Bill's cottage on Route 25 to see for himself, however. That's where you come in! Listen to his descriptions of the Pokémon he wants to see. Figure out which ones they are, and then find and bring them to him. In return, you receive an Evolution Stone.

Pokémon	Location	Evolution Stone
Lickitung	Route 44	Everstone
Oddish (Nite only)	Routes 5, 6, 24, 25, and the Ilex Forest	Leaf Stone
Saryu (Nite only)	Routes 19, 34, 40; Cherrygrove, Olivine, Cianwood; Cerulean City Gym	Water Stone
Growlithe (Gold Only)	Routes 7, 8, 36, 37	Fire Stone
Vulpix (Silver Only)	Routes 7, 8, 36, 37	Fire Stone
Pichu	Breed a Pikachu ♀ with a compatible Pokémon	Thunderstone

Fighting Red at Mt. Silver

Red is without a doubt the strongest Trainer in the game. All his Pokémon are at L70 or higher and they're in peak fighting form. Possessing all 16 Johto and Kanto Badges is no guarantee of victory, however.

Battle Pokémon

Pokémon	Type
Pikachu ♂ L81	Electric
Espeon ♂ L73	Psychic
Snorlax ♂ L75	Normal
Charizard ♂ L77	Fire/Flying
Blastoise ♂ L77	Water
Venusaur ♂ L77	Grass/Poison

Before you enter this battle make sure you have one or more Pokémon at L70 or higher. You'll find it much easier if you have three or more Pokémon of different types at this level before you attempt this battle. Red's team is strong and extremely well balanced. Defeating it with a single Pokémon type will be difficult. If you find yourself with only one or two Pokémon at L70 or higher, try to capture the L70 Ho-oh or Lugia (depending on your version of the game). To do this, you need the other Wing. A man in Pewter City gives it to you just for talking with him.

Pikachu is Red's first Pokémon and his strongest, at least in level. But he's pretty easy to defeat using Ground moves or any strong Pokémon you have in your party. If you normally lead with your highest level Pokémon, see how it does against Pikachu. For Espeon, use Bug, Ghost, or Dark moves. An Umbreon works very well here.

Snorlax is the Pokémon most likely to halt your progress. Its high Defense makes it difficult to take out in a single round, and its ability to cast Rest to heal itself completely in one turn adds to the frustration. You need a high-level Pokémon with Fighting-type moves. In lieu of that, you just need a Pokémon who can take out Snorlax in the two rounds he spends sleeping off the Rest move.

Your success at taking out Charizard, Blastoise, and Venusaur depends heavily on the Pokémon in your party. Use Water or Electric attacks against Charizard, Electric or Grass attacks against Blastoise, and Fire, Psychic, and Ice attacks against Venusaur. Your main concern should be surviving their attacks until your Pokémon can produce their super-effective ones.

When you beat Red, the game ends a second time and Red disappears until the next time you want to defeat him.

Capturing the Three Legendary Pokémon—Entei, Raikou, and Suicune

Oh, for the days of Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. Capturing the Legendary Birds required only patience and an unlimited supply of Ultra Balls!

Things have changed in Pokémon Gold and Silver. Capturing the Legendary Pokémon requires a lot of work, and an equal amount of luck! When you free the three Pokémon from their prison in the Burned Tower in Ecruteak City, they flee in different directions. Talk to the townspeople to learn basic information about these Pokémon. First, they're fast. Second, they hide in the long grass.

This means you can find the Legendary Pokémon in any patch of grass in the Johto region. They don't appear in caves, buildings, and the like, nor do they appear in the Kanto region.

This narrows the area you must search, but it makes it no easier to find these speedy Pokémon. They appear randomly and switch locations every time you enter a house, building, or dungeon, change routes, or enter a city. Your first encounter with a Legendary Pokémon will undoubtedly be purely by luck. But once you've encountered one, its information appears in the PokéDex and you can start tracking it on the PokéDex Area screen.

Here's the procedure: You encounter a Legendary Pokémon. It flees before you can launch an attack. Then you stalk it using the PokéDex Area screen.

Sadly, running into a Legendary Pokémon is easier than capturing one. They're fast and their first instinct is to run for the hills whenever challenged by a Trainer's Pokémon. Unless you have an unlimited supply of Master Balls (and you don't), you won't capture one on the first try. So you must set a few days aside to stalk and trap one.

First, purchase 50 to 100 Max Repels and place a Pokémon who meets the following criteria at the top of your Active Pokémon list.

- * At or around L40
- * Very high Speed rating
- * Reliable Sleep-inducing move

Attaching the Quick Claw item to that lead Pokémon increases its chance of attacking first.

Second, use the Area function on the PokéDex to locate the Legendary Pokémon you just encountered. Unless you're extremely lucky, you'll have to try to arrange it so you and the Pokémon are in the same area at the same time. Legendary Pokémon have no set pattern to their travels around Johto, but at times they do wander from route to route in order. Find two Routes right next to each other (such as routes 30 and 31), or choose a Route that has a single patch of grass, such as Route 42. Then check the PokéDex and start walking back and forth between that Route and whatever lies next to it—city, cave, route, whatever. At some point, you and the Legendary Pokémon will end up together. This may happen quickly or it may take forever, but eventually it will happen.

When it does, first use a Max Repel to drive away the other Pokémon in the area. This way, if you do get into a battle, it will be with only a Legendary Pokémon (unless you try this on Route 45, where the average Pokémon level is higher than usual). This is a good way to flush a Legendary Pokémon for a first meeting without engaging in a million random battles with other Wild Pokémon. When the battle starts, put the Legendary Pokémon to Sleep immediately! Of course, this works only if you get the first attack. Otherwise, it will run away and you must start again.

Next, start chipping away at the Legendary Pokémon's HP. Your goal is to chip it down to just a sliver of health so you can capture it: Don't go too far or you'll have to restart from your last save and begin again from step one. If you manage to get the Pokémon to a sliver of health before it wakes up and runs away, you're in a good position to try to capture it in a Poké Ball. If it wakes up and runs away before then, don't fear! Legendary Pokémon retain the damage you inflict. If you can get their HP gauge into the red during one battle, you can spend future encounters simply throwing Poké Balls at them. It may take more than one battle to do that.

That's about all there is to it. Just keep stalking and battling the Legendary Pokémon until you get that lucky break with a Poké Ball. Speed Balls are a good match for the Pokémon's extraordinary speed. But in a pinch an Ultra Ball or even a Great Ball works well.

One other note: Capturing the Legendary Pokémon is very time-consuming and requires patience and luck. These creatures aren't easy to catch, so don't expect to get them all—or even one—in a day. If you encounter one, you should feel lucky. A lot of players go an entire game without seeing any!

Attached Items on Wild and Traded Pokémon

It's now possible to capture Wild Pokémon with items already attached. And if you trade your Pokémon from Pokémon Red, Blue, or Yellow, they'll have items attached, as well.

If you didn't know about this bonus game feature, you're in for a great surprise. You can get many items in this game only after you trade a certain Pokémon from another game version, or when they come attached to a Wild Pokémon you catch, or when you trade using the Mystery Gift function (covered in the next section).

Items Attached to Wild Pokémon

Once in a while you'll find a Pokémon in the wild with an item attached. (You'll know this has happened when you spot that telltale envelope attached to the icon on the Pokémon screen, or in a box in Bill's PC.) Once you realize you can get items this way, you can plan to find and capture specific Pokémon to get specific items. And you can use the Thief (TM46) move found in Team Rocket's Hideout to steal items attached to Wild Pokémon. Unless you want multiple copies of the same Pokémon, this is actually the easiest way to do this.

Attached Items of Pokémon Traded from Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow

When you trade Pokémon from versions Red, Blue, and Yellow using the Time Capsule in the Pokémon Centers, you'll find some interesting, often rare and expensive, items attached to them. Remember, to use the Time Capsule, you can't have any Pokémon in your party that don't appear in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow or any Pokémon with moves that don't appear in Pokémon Red, Blue, and Yellow. Try to use the Time Capsule in the Blackthorn City Pokémon Center so you can use the Move Deleter if you need to.

Mystery Gift!

Mystery Gift works like the Card Pop function in the Pokémon® Trading Card Game Game Boy game. It allows you and your friends to transfer presents to one another using the Game Boy Color's IR-Device. (Refer to the game manual for instructions and details.)

This little girl appears only if you play on Game Boy Color. She unlocks the Mystery Gift feature!

The Mystery Gift function becomes available after you speak to the little girl on the fifth floor of the Goldenrod City Department Store. She appears only if you play Pokémon Gold or Silver on Game Boy Color. After you talk to her, the Mystery Gift option appears in the Start Menu when you next restart the game.

The items you receive from Mystery Gift fall into two categories—Normal Items and Room Decorations. Normal Items are stored at the Mystery Gift desk on the second floor of any Pokémon Center; Room Decorations go to your PC in New Bark Town. You can get the following Items.

The Pokémon Pikachu 2 Connection

You also can use the Pokémon Pikachu 2 (sold separately) with the Mystery Gift feature of Pokémon Gold and Silver. As you walk around with the Pokémon Pikachu 2 clipped to your belt, you accumulate "Watts." Feed the Watts you accumulate to Pikachu or use them to "buy" Items through Mystery Gift. Decorating your Room

Pokémon Gold and Silver's Room Decoration feature, available when you access your home PC in New Bark Town, allows you to change your room's looks with different beds, carpets, game systems, plants, and stuffed Poké Dolls. Your mom buys you some of these items once you have sufficient money in your savings account. The rest you must get yourself using the Mystery Gift function.

From your home PC, choose the Decoration option. Then choose a decoration type, such as Ornaments.

Choose an Ornament, such as the Charmander Doll. If you have many Ornaments, you'll be asked which side of the table to place it on.

Enjoy your new room!

Colored Pokémon

In Pokémon Gold and Silver you'll find special, variously colored Pokémon. These often are called "Shiny" Pokémon because of the star flash that spirals around them when they appear in battle. They appear rarely, but when they do you'll know—from the star flash, and from the fact that you can't flee the battle! If you think you've caught a colored Pokémon, check its Status screen for the telltale triple star.

All the game's Pokémon have a colored version, including one-time-only Pokémon such as Lugia, Ho-oh, and Sudowoodo. In addition, colored Pokémon pass on their coloring when they evolve (but not when they breed). We caught the following colored Pokémon:

Look for the three stars to determine whether you've caught a colored Pokémon.
